Prison Riot Crushed; 5 Inmates Left Dead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A rebellion by Ohio Penitentiary inmates was crushed Wednesday by police and National Guardsmen, who blasted through prison walls to rescue nine penitentiary guards held hostage for nearly 30 hours.

Five of the inmates who had threatened to burn the guards to death were killed in the attack and 10 others were injured. The hostages escaped injury.

The dead: Wesley L. Neville Jr., Fayette County, serving life for second degree murder; Thomas Bradshaw Jr., Lucas County, serving one to five years for breaking and entering; Jess Wade, Jefferson County, serving three to 30 years for maiming; Burton Anderson, Cuyahoga County serving one to 20 years for auto theft, and Walter G. Bainsden, Cuyahoga County, serving 10 to 25 years for armed robbery.

The injured: Ronald G. Scranton, Clarence Ferguson, and Edward Spaulding, all of Cuyahoga County; Robert L. Mitchell and Jerry Jones, both of Hamilton County; James D. Davis of Scioto County; George Barnhart, Madison County; Leo Sersich, Allen County; Robert L. Browning, Lucas County; John Hargett, Clermont County.

State Corrections chief Maury C. Koblenz said the inmates "overplayed their hand and lost." The inmates had threatened to kill the hostages if certain demands weren't met or if a rescue by force was attempted.

"They had won two big items," he said.

but lost everything when they ignored our ultimatum," Koblenz said.

That ultimatum, delivered at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, gave the inmates 15 minutes to surrender and release the guards.

The fifteen minutes passed, the hostages were not freed and two dynamite blasts were set off seconds apart. One shattered the outside wall of cells where the prisoners were, the other ripped the roof off the cell block.

Columbus policemen, state highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen streamed through the hole in the wall and down ropes from the roof. Staccato bursts of automatic rifle fire and the roar of shotguns was heard seconds later.

The nine hostages were freed a few minutes later. The rebellion by about 300 of the 2,500

Irregularities Again Plague Ike's Heart

Spasms Reverse Progress Made 24 Hours Before

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower continued to show increased evidences of heart "irregularity" today but Army doctors said his over-all condition is unchanged and still critical.

The irregularity mentioned in the latest bulletin first appeared Wednesday night and refers to a weakening in the nerves that operate the heart muscles.

This morning's report by the doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital added that the term also means extra beats or irregularity in the heart rhythm.

"In spite of his long illness," said the medical report, "he has remained cheerful and continues to see members of his immediate family for brief periods daily. His vital signs remain stable and his over-all condition must be viewed as unchanged but still critical."

The report said that the 77-year-old Eisenhower continues to rest comfortably and has been in no pain.

Last night's report said:

"Gen. Eisenhower has again shown some increase of heart irregularity since this afternoon's bulletin. He is presently resting comfortably and his vital life signs are stable."

Earlier in the day doctors reported that a new drug had appeared to be effective in controlling the spasms.

The drug is a synthetic substance called lidocaine, chemically related to the pain killer novocaine, but more powerful.

Although it has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for general cardiac use, it is under extensive clinical investigation.

Roundtown

CIRCLEVILLE Chief of Police Robert Temple and City Safety Director Robert Adkins submitted Patrolman Jack Mills for attendance at the FBI school on civil disturbances to be held at Ft. Benning, Ga. The week-long school operated by the FBI is open to all law enforcement agencies. It is not known when Officer Mills will be attending the school, according to Chief Temple.

A SQUAD of 10 Ohio State Patrolmen, led by Sgt. James Pribble and Cpl. Carl Wolfinger of the local post, were the first men through the hole blasted in the state penitentiary wall Wednesday. Also in the group were Patrolmen E. G. Moore and Sam Hamblin of the Circleville post.

The smoke and dust had not yet cleared and chunks of stone were still falling when the ten men charged into the prison to rescue the nine guards held captive by the militant prisoners.

"It was a well planned action," Sgt. Pribble said. "We went in blind, but when the dust had cleared every man was right where he was supposed to be."

While the patrolmen were going through the hole in the wall, other officers were utilizing the hole blasted in the roof to get into a position where they could protect the nine guards held captive on the top cell block.

The sergeant said his group met no resistance from the prisoners on the ground level. The local officers were more than a little tired. They went to the state pen Tuesday when the trouble first broke out and stayed until midnight. They went back at 6 a.m. Wednesday and did not leave until 10 p.m.

The prison wall was over three feet thick, and officers were not sure how big a hole the charge of explosives would make. None of the patrolmen were injured.

CLASSES at Circleville High School will begin at 8:17 a.m. Sept. 3. Junior high school classes begin at 8:15 a.m.; elementary school at 8:45 a.m.; morning session of kindergarten, 8:45 a.m.; afternoon session of kindergarten, 12:15 p.m.

Czechs Demonstrate Against Soviet Army

CZECHMATED — Following broadcast advice, Czechs go about their business in Prague as Soviet tanks move along the street during the Warsaw Pact invasion.

Call Russians Murderers; Dubcek Held

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavsk Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fist at the Russian and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!" They called for Dubcek's release.

Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or looting warning shots into the air.

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The clandestine proliberal radio announced 927 delegates met at 11:20 a.m. Though the broadcast did not specify the site, the delegates had been urged to go to the liberal-controlled CKD factory on the outskirts of Prague.

Under arrangements that had been made by Dubcek, 1,500 members would have been on hand for the September meeting. In that session it had been expected he would oust conservatism.

Valuable Art Stolen

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A police chief says burglars "just opened a kitchen window and walked right in" to steal 16 art objects valued by the owner at $1,394,000.

Paintings by such renowned artists as Picasso, Cezanne, LaTour, Degas, Goya and Modigliani and two cast bronze statues by Rodin were stolen, police said.

They were part of a collection of about 1,000 art pieces collected by Dr. T. Edward Hanley during the course of 45 years.

Thieves broke into the Hanley house Wednesday morning and made off with the art objects, all on the first floor, while the 75-year-old Hanley and his sister-in-law were sleeping in two upstairs bedrooms.

Police Chief Earl Bridge of Foster Township said the thieves walked up a short stairway on a back porch and slit the screen on a kitchen window.

LBJ Wants Pact with Reds Despite Soviet Aggression

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson still would go anywhere—even to Moscow during the Czech crisis—"to further the cause of peace, if his presence were required."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration intends to press for arms control and other East-West accords despite the millstone the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia has hung on U.S.-Soviet relations.

The prospect of far-reaching talks between the United States and Russia on nuclear missile and antimissile curbs are still alive, authoritative U.S. sources said Wednesday.

President Johnson has not canceled the newly inaugurated New York-Moscow air service, clamped down on trade with Russia or suspended U.S.-Soviet cultural exchanges although such options remained open.

A U.S. military response was ruled out from the beginning.

The immediate U.S. strategy has been to try for some relief of Czechoslovakian liberals by joining in the outcry of world public opinion against the Russian move.

Johnson publicly denounced the Soviet action Wednesday. Ambassador George L. Ball protested at the U.N. Security Council and the government's

Voice of America radio tripled its Russian-language broadcasts.

"It is never too late for reason to prevail," Johnson said in appealing for urgent United Nations action.

The President called the Soviet Union claim that Czech leaders had asked for military aid in preserving communism in their country "patently contrived."

"The Czechoslovakian government did not request its allies to interfere in its internal affairs," Johnson said. "No external aggression threatened Czechoslovakia."

On Capitol Hill, both Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford agreed there is little the United States can do except to take the matter to the United Nations.

The State Department, meanwhile, advised all Americans to defer travel to Czechoslovakia and said those already there should keep in touch with the U.S. Embassy.

The United States also quietly began arrangements to help refugees should they start streaming out of Czechoslovakia, as they did from Hungary after the Soviets smashed an uprising there 12 years ago.

Administration authorities admittedly expect a wave of anti-Soviet sentiment in the United States to put a chill on Johnson's long effort to build bridges toward Communist East Europe.

There were anti-Soviet demonstrations in New York and Washington Wednesday.

Officials now wonder whether the Senate will ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty when it reconvenes next month. Johnson hailed the pact when it was signed July 1 as a landmark accord of the atomic age.

Cloud Report Shows Ohio Outlay for Education High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifty-four cents of every dollar the state received in revenue in fiscal 1968 went for education, State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today.

Cloud published his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, showing receipts of $2,550,999,584 (b) from all sources, and expenditures of $2,587,451,350 (b), including capital improvements.

State school aid for all purposes which totaled $246 million in 1963, nearly doubled to more than $434 million by the end of fiscal 1968.

He said state aid to colleges and universities jumped from $54.7 million in 1963 to more than $148 million in 1968, "clearly indicating the major emphasis is placed upon improved education at all levels for the young people of Ohio."

Public welfare costs continued to rise with total state payments going from $132 million in 1963 to more than $291 million in fiscal 1968. The largest increases were in the areas of health care payments and aid to dependent children programs.

Of the 54 cents of every revenue dollar going to education, Cloud said, 40 cents was spent for school and the balance for higher education. Welfare took 27 cents, while mental health, corrections and youth required 12 cents and all other services and activities received only seven cents of each general revenue dollar.

Principal source of these funds was the sales and use tax, accounting for 44 cents of each dollar collected. Beer, liquor and cigarettes produced 16 cents; corporation franchise and utility taxes 13 cents, and federal aid, 14 cents.

Other taxes and interest income accounted for the balance of 13 cents realized to the general fund.

Firms Plan Huge Electric Plant

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. announced today it will join with two Ohio utility companies in building a $92 million electric generating unit at Conesville. CG&E, along with the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. and the Dayton Power and Light Co., will jointly own and operate the unit which will have a net capability of 800,000 kilowatts, making it the largest single unit in Ohio.

Scheduled for completion in 1973, the unit will be added to the Columbus and Southern Co.'s existing generating station in Conesville which is in Coshoc-ton County.

polling firm and to concede that if tradition doesn't hold their man could be in trouble.

The poll, made public Wednesday only five days before the Democratic convention shows Republican Nixon widening his lead from 40-to-38 per cent over Humphrey in mid-July to about 45-to-29 in the period immediately after the GOP convention.

Humphrey people insist the poll result will have no effect on the convention outcome. They contend that the other candidates—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia—have not shown any greater popularity among the delegates. After their talks with the Gallup people, Humphrey advisers said Barry Goldwater showed substantial improvement in the polls immediately after the 1964 GOP convention that nominated him.

But it was a temporary rise. Thus, the argument goes that Goldwater's and Nixon's showings were improved by saturation news coverage of their conventions.

Humphrey advisers expect the vice president will show a similar gain in the polls after the Democratic convention, if he is nominated. And Humphrey predicts he will be nominated on the first ballot.

U.N. Resumes Czech Debate

Seek Resolution Against Soviets

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States, Britain, France and four other countries demanded today that the U.N. Security Council condemn the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies for armed intervention in Czechoslovakia. They asked for an immediate withdrawal without violence or reprisals.

The seven submitted their demand in a resolution to the Security Council as it resumed debate in emergency session on the Czechoslovak crisis. Joining the big three western powers were Canada, Brazil, Denmark and Paraguay.

The 15-nation council met at 11:30 a.m. for another round of debate on the crisis. Czechoslovakia, overrun by the Soviet Union and other hard-time followers, had the support of the United States and the Western powers.

The Western powers were aware that their resolution faced certain big power veto from the Soviet Union. But they were seeking the biggest support possible in the Council, believing that would have maximum impact on world opinion and might influence Soviet actions in Czechoslovakia.

The United States was pushing for a resolution that would have the Council pronounce the invasion a violation of the U.N. Charter and call for respect for Czechoslovakia's territorial integrity, political independence and right of self-determination.

In addition to condemning the armed intervention it would request a withdrawal without bloodshed or reprisals.

The resolution would also ask Secretary-General U. Thant to keep the issue under review and report back to the Council on implementation of the resolution.

Humphrey Nixes Debate with Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said the vice president has decided against debating Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, because of the delicate international situation and the demands by two other candidates that they be included.

The reference to the international situation meant the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Sen. George S. McGovern and Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox also had demanded they be included in any television debate and McGovern had threatened to seek a court injunction.

McCarthy's office said only that it was "clear that the vice president now for reasons of his own does not want to debate."

Pen Guard Tells Of Being Hostage

By DON A. DILEY
As Told to Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — They were the most nerve-racking hours I have ever spent. I kept thinking was I going to live or was I going to die.

I prayed to almighty God like I haven't done since I was seven years old. They kept us in a cellblock and we could hear the prisoners.

First, it would be quiet for a while and we would try to catch a wink of sleep. Then we would hear them shouting and running around. We wondered if they were coming to kill us or what.

They had approximately 14 ounces of lighter fluid in a coffee jar that they planned to throw in our cell if they tried to come in before their demands were met.

One of their demands was that the charges against them for being ringleaders of the June 24 riot and the charges against them holding us hostages be stricken from the record.

Romanian Red Chief Hits Russia

VIENNA (AP) — Nicolae Ceausescu, president and Communist party leader of Romania, told Parliament today that the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia was "a tragic mistake which will have serious consequences for the Communist movement."

"There is no basis for any attempt to justify this action," Ceausescu declared.

Parliament adopted a resolution denouncing the Soviet action and calling for a Communist policy of noninterference in the affairs of Socialist countries.

Ceausescu said although Moscow cited an appeal from Czechoslovak officials as the reason for its intervention, this appeal came from "persons who represent nobody."

"It is not too late to return to reason," Ceausescu said, urging that differences of opinion among Communist states be settled by negotiation. The Warsaw Pact, he said, cannot justify intervention in the affairs of other Socialist countries.

National Teachers Strike Possible

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new president-elect of the American Federation of Teachers says a nationwide teachers strike may be necessary to focus attention on the seriousness of the school situation.

David Selden, 54, of New York, defeated Edward C. Bolstad, 34, of Minnesota and Mrs. Zelina Richard of Detroit to win the presidency Wednesday night.

"Teachers need a great deal more power than they have," Selden said Wednesday. "They do not have enough power to bring about a really significant improvement in the quality of education."

Pen Guard Tells Of Being Hostage

By DON A. DILLEY
As Told to Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — They were the most nerve wracking hours I have ever spent. I kept thinking was I going to live or was I going to die.

I prayed to almighty God like I haven't done since I was seven years old. They kept us in a cellblock and we could hear the prisoners.

One of their demands was that the charges against them for being ringleaders of the June 24 riot and the charges against them holding us hostages be stricken from the record.

They felt it was unfair for them to face the grand jury when approximately 800 inmates were involved in the original riot.

They wanted a whole new thing — a whole new administration and better rehabilitation services and better parole. But, I'm just a regular guard who works up here and doesn't have too much to do with the administration of the prison.

They were earnest about killing us. I know, I talked to some of the prisoners for hours. They were pledged to each other that they were willing to die for their cause.

But, they were our insurance and we were their insurance. When I heard on the radio that they were going to blast their way in to get the prisoners out, I felt so helpless. I didn't want them to because I thought we'd die.

When the prisoners found out they were coming in, they told the guards that "there's nine men in here who are going to die if you do."

Then the blasts came. I don't know exactly what happened but I heard that the prisoners decided to surrender. Most of them laid down on the floor and then I heard about 50 shots. I think they were warning shots fired over their heads to scare them.

That surrendering — that was the smartest move they ever made in their lives. I don't like to see too much bloodshed myself.

"There is no basis for any attempt to justify this action," Ceausescu declared.

Czechs Demonstrate Against Soviet Army

Call Russians Murderers; Dubcek Held

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavsk Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fist at the Russian and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!" They called for Dubcek's release.

Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or looting warning shots into the air.

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The clandestine proliberal radio announced 927 delegates met at 11:20 a.m. Though the broadcast did not specify the site, the delegates had been urged to go to the liberal-controlled CKD factory on the outskirts of Prague.

Under arrangements that had been made by Dubcek, 1,500 members would have been on hand for the September meeting. In that session it had been expected he would oust conservatism. (Continued on Page 2)

Valuable Art Stolen

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A police chief says burglars "just opened a kitchen window and walked right on in" to steal 16 art objects valued by the owner at $1,394,000.

Paintings by such renowned artists as Picasso, Cezanne, LaTour, Degas, Goya and Modigliani and two cast bronze statues by Rodin were stolen, police said.

They were part of a collection of about 1,000 art pieces collected by Dr. T. Edward Hanley during the course of 45 years.

Thieves broke into the Hanley house Wednesday morning and made off with the art objects, all on the first floor, while the 75-year-old Hanley and his sister-in-law were sleeping in two upstairs bedrooms.

Police Chief Earl Bridge of Foster Township said the thieves walked up a short stairway on a back porch and slit the screen on a kitchen window.

LBJ Wants Pact with Reds Despite Soviet Aggression

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson still would go anywhere—even to Moscow during the Czech crisis—"to further the cause of peace, if his presence were required."

The immediate U.S. strategy has been to try for some relief of Czechoslovakian liberals by joining in the outcry of world public opinion against the Russian move.

Johnson publicly denounced the Soviet action Wednesday. Ambassador George L. Ball protested at the U.N. Security Council and the government's voice of America radio tripled its Russian-language broadcasts.

"It is never too late for reason to prevail," Johnson said in appealing for urgent United Nations action.

The President called the Soviet Union claim that Czech leaders had asked for military aid in preserving communism in their country "patently contrived."

"The Czechoslovakian government did not request its allies to interfere in its internal affairs," Johnson said. "No external aggression threatened Czechoslovakia."

On Capitol Hill, both Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford agreed there is little the United States can do except to take the matter to the United Nations.

The State Department, meanwhile, advised all Americans to defer travel to Czechoslovakia and said those already there should keep in touch with the U.S. Embassy.

The United States also quietly began arrangements to help refugees should they start streaming out of Czechoslovakia, as they did from Hungary after the Soviets smashed an uprising there 12 years ago.

Administration authorities admittedly expect a wave of anti-Soviet sentiment in the United States to put a chill on Johnson's long effort to build bridges toward Communist East Europe.

There were anti-Soviet demonstrations in New York and Washington Wednesday.

Officials now wonder whether the Senate will ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty when it reconvenes next month.

Johnson hailed the pact when it was signed July 1 as a landmark accord of the atomic age.

Cloud Report Shows Ohio Outlay for Education High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifty-four cents of every dollar the state received in revenue in fiscal 1968 went for education, State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today.

Cloud published his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, showing receipts of $2,550,999,584 (b) from all sources, and expenditures of $2,587,451,350 (b), including capital improvements.

State school aid for all purposes which totaled $246 million in 1963, nearly doubled to more than $434 million by the end of fiscal 1968.

He said state aid to colleges and universities jumped from $54.7 million in 1963 to more than $148 million in 1968, "clearly indicating the major emphasis is placed upon improved education at all levels for the young people of Ohio."

Public welfare costs continued to rise with total state payments going from $132 million in 1963 to more than $291 million in fiscal 1968. The largest increases were in the areas of health care payments and aid to dependent children programs.

Of the 54 cents of every revenue dollar going to education, Cloud said, 40 cents was spent for school and the balance for higher education. Welfare took 27 cents, while mental health, corrections and youth required 12 cents and all other services and activities received only seven cents of each general revenue dollar.

Principal source of these funds was the sales and use tax, accounting for 44 cents of each dollar collected. Beer, liquor and cigarettes produced 16 cents; corporation franchise and utility taxes 13 cents, and federal aid, 14 cents.

Other taxes and interest income accounted for the balance of 13 cents realized to the general fund.

Firms Plan Huge Electric Plant

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. announced today it will join with two Ohio utility companies in building a $92 million electric generating unit at Conesville.

CG&E, along with the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. and the Dayton Power and Light Co., will jointly own and operate the unit which will have a net capability of 800,000 kilowatts, making it the largest single unit in Ohio.

Scheduled for completion in 1973, the unit will be added to the Columbus and Southern Co.'s existing generating station in Conesville which is in Coshocton County.

HHH Allegedly Unworried By Sinking Popularity Poll

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's advisers say his sharp drop in the latest presidential popularity poll is due to wide exposure Richard M. Nixon got during the Republican National Convention.

They say they believe Humphrey will recover in the standings as soon as the Democrats get their crack at the national television audience when they hold their own nominating convention next week in Chicago.

The advisers, however, aren't rejecting the latest Gallup poll out of hand. It is understood they are concerned enough to have talked to the polling firm and to concede that if tradition doesn't hold their man could be in trouble.

The poll, made public Wednesday only five days before the Democratic convention shows Republican Nixon winning his lead from 40-to-38 percent over Humphrey in mid-July to about 45-to-29 in the period immediately after the GOP convention.

Humphrey people insist the poll result will have no effect on the convention outcome. They contend that the other candidates—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia—have not shown any greater popularity among the delegates. After their talks with the Gallup people, Humphrey advisers said Barry Goldwater showed substantial improvement in the polls immediately after the 1964 GOP convention that nominated him.

But it was a temporary rise. Thus, the argument goes that Goldwater's and Nixon's showings were improved by saturation news coverage of their conventions.

Humphrey advisers expect the vice president will show a similar gain in the polls after the Democratic convention, if he is nominated. And Humphrey predicts he will be nominated on the first ballot.

Pope's Colombian Visit Marred by Czech Crisis

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Pope Paul VI arrived today on the first papal visit to Latin America and was greeted by upwards of 10,000 persons at the airport.

A cool wind blew over the vast plain where this 8,600-foot high city nestles between the ranges of the Andes as the blue and white Avianca jetliner completed the long journey from Rome, bringing the Pope to the 39th Eucharistic Congress.

Police and troops in steel helmets patrolled the route to the airport as city folks in their Sunday best mingled with peasants to get vantage points for a view of the pontiff.

A scarlet carpet was unrolled to the plane, leading to a stand where dignitaries were gathered, headed by President Carlos Lleras Restrepo.

The pontiff's visit was marred by his concern over the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Pope was kept informed on the crisis throughout his 12-hour flight.

Avianca said the pontiff demanded full reports on the latest developments, through the communications system of the Avianca's U.S.-built 707.

As the Pope's plane first entered Colombia's air space, the Bogota radio began playing the national anthem and the announcer said: "Welcome to Colombia, Holy Father."

The Pope said as he took off from Rome that he left with "sharp bitterness and great anxiety" over events in the East European nation. He added that he would give up his Latin American journey if it would serve "to avoid the disastrous consequences which, alas, one can with reason foresee" in Czechoslovakia.

In going to Bogota Pope Paul hoped to evoke what he called an intense movement of charity through the Eucharist "that invites the well-off, the developed peoples and economic and political authorities to resolve the too grave situations of fixed privileges on one side and intense misery on the other."

In the last hours before his departure, the Pope was kept informed of developments in Czechoslovakia, which, he told a general audience Wednesday, "is a country we love and appreciate."

Seeming to tie together his hopes for both Czechoslovakia and Latin America, the Pope added that he hoped "conflicts of violence and blood" could be avoided and that "peace can be assured."

The Vatican daily L'Osservatore Romano said the Pope will pray for Czechoslovakia at the Eucharistic Congress.

Besides closing the congress, the Pope will open the second conference of Latin American bishops, meet with President Carlos Lleras Restrepo, talk with Colombian campesinos (peasants), and ordain a number of young Latin Americans to the priesthood.

The Pope's three-day schedule here was carefully arranged by Vatican prelates. Colombian church leaders and the country's governing officials to space out a variety of activity with many rest periods in the hope of avoiding overexertion, in the city's rarified atmosphere at 8,700 feet above sea level.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday were declared a prolonged civic holiday. The only Bogota citizens expected to work were persons in vital activities like communications, transportation, health and food services.

Pickets Defy Court Order

Body of Girl Found in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The body of Donna Ibrig, 5, of suburban Grasbeck, missing since Monday, was found today at the bottom of an embankment here.

Police said she apparently plunged off a hill to her death. The incident was tentatively ruled accidental, although an autopsy was to be performed.

Nixon, with GOP Liberals In His Camp, Takes Rest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon relaxed at his Florida hideaway today after completing an apparently successful cross country tour to assure support from all elements of the Republican party for his presidential campaign.

Nixon flew to Miami Wednesday night after winning pledges of support from two leaders of the party's liberal segment—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Rockefeller, who lost the GOP nomination to Nixon three weeks ago at Miami Beach, and Lindsay said in separate statements they would stump for the former vice president.

The four-day swing also brought pledges of full support from Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, George Romney of Michigan and Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania. California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who also challenged Nixon for the nomination, said last week he would appear on national television for the ticket of Nixon and the vice presidential nominee, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew.

Nixon in starting his campaign, said their support would be needed to win the vote of the nation's more populous states.

Arriving in Miami aboard a commercial flight from New York, Nixon was escorted by a security detachment to a waiting car and driven 10 miles to Key Biscayne and the hotel the Nixon family uses frequently for vacations. Key Biscayne is an island connected to Miami by a causeway.

An aide said Nixon planned to remain there until Saturday.

"Mr. Nixon is here only to rest," said the aide. He ruled out any public appearances or statements by Nixon barring major developments in Czechoslovakia or a change in the illness of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, the first Negro to become a U.S. senator since reconstruction, and New York Sen. Jacob K. Javits added their backing to the ticket.

Gov. Agnew has been criticized by some for his stand on restoring law and order during the racial violence. In declaring his support, however, Brooke said: "Ted Agnew is not a racist. He's a progressive."

5 Ohioans Are Killed In Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two truck drivers, one at the wheel of a truck carrying explosives; two Wood County teenagers and a bicyclist are listed among Ohio's latest traffic dead.

The fatalities:

Andrew Garland, 10, near Springboro, Warren County.

Marie Wilhelm, 18, Custar, Wood County.

Diana Burkhardt, 17, Milton Center, Wood County.

Bernard King, Findlay.

John McCarthy, about 24, Barberton.

The Garland boy was killed Wednesday when his bicycle was struck by an automobile near Springboro in Warren County. The Highway Patrol said Cliff Beckett, Warren County clerk of courts, driver of the car, was charged with driving a vehicle while intoxicated.

Miss Wilhelm and Miss Burkhardt were killed Wednesday and two other persons hurt in a three-car collision on U.S. 6 a mile west of Bowling Green.

King was killed when his truck, carrying explosives, blew a tire and overturned on Interstate 75 north of Findlay.

McCarthy burned to death Wednesday when his truck carrying fuel oil, jack-knifed and exploded on Interstate 271 in Beechwood, Cuyahoga County. He was engulfed in flames when he tried to climb from the truck.

ative opponents from the ruling party Presidium and the Central Committee.

The seven Central Committee members who have declared loyalty to the Soviet-led occupation troops, tried to shift today's meeting to the party-owned Praha Hotel.

Soviet tanks and armored cars guarded the approaches to the hotel. Several black limousines were parked outside.

The proliberal station broadcast warnings to congress delegates not to go to the hotel, which it said was a trap.

The calling of the congress was another attempt to discredit the pro-Soviet members of the Presidium, who include Slovak party chief Vasil Bilak and Dr. Jozef Kolder, a former head of economic planning.

The proliberal radio this morning mentioned Rude Pravo editor Oldrich Svestka as one of the pro-Soviet members, but later broadcasts dropped his name.

He was reported arrested by Soviet troops Wednesday, although he has come out against some of Dubcek's policies in the past.

Dubcek himself was still in Soviet custody, along with other leading members of his liberal regime.

The radio said a general strike started in the South Bohemian district to protest the occupation.

The radio also called on the army to protect President Ludvik Svoboda and not to take orders from anyone except from the legal government.

Czechoslovak secret police, who have kept in the background since Dubcek took over in January, were arresting prominent writers and journalists.

Witnesses reported hundreds of political prisoners were arriving at Pankrac Prison.

Meanwhile an American Embassy motor convoy taking U.S. citizens out of the country cleared a checkpoint outside Prague and was on its way to the West German border crossing point at Rozvadov.

Embassy officials said a Czechoslovak motorcycle policeman was escorting the convoy of about 20 embassy and private cars.

Dozens of British, Dutch and West German cars joined the American convoy.

Among the Americans was actress Shirley Temple Black, who left the tourist-flooded Alcron Hotel clutching a bouquet of red roses given her by a weeping chamber maid.

Czechoslovakia's chief of state and Parliament insisted that the Russians and their allies—Poles, East Germans, Hungarians and Bulgarians—free captive liberal leaders and go home, leaving the nation to pursue its freer brand of communism.

"There is no way back from freedom and democracy for Czechoslovakia," Svoboda said in an address over the clandestine radio station.

"The situation must be solved rapidly and the troops must leave," the 72-year-old president said, adding that he hoped a solution could be reached today.

Even as he spoke, a quarter-hour firefight against the occupation troops broke out in Prague. Hundreds of casualties already had been reported in scattered cases of resistance.

The occupation forces imposed a midnight-5 a.m. curfew and announced they would shoot without questions at anyone who appeared on the streets.

The Parliament adopted its defiant stance at an emergency meeting Wednesday. Occupation troops entered the Parliament building but the assembly continued in session.

Broadcasts said seven persons were killed in fighting around the Prague Radio offices, six in Liberec 55 miles northeast of Prague and 10 in the east Slovak town of Kosice.

Reports from Kosice said some Soviet soldiers were killed by a Molotov cocktail thrown in their tank, and that Russian troops fired on a crowd, killing a youth, 17, and wounding about 20 persons.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK, before reporting it had been put out of business at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, said about 180 persons were wounded in Prague.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More convicts were on death row in American prisons last year than at any time since 1953, but only two men were executed, the Bureau of Prisons reports.

In its annual report on capital punishment, the bureau said Wednesday 435 persons were under sentence of death during 1967. This was the highest number on record and double the 1960 figure.

Two murderers went to the gas chamber last year—one in California and the other in Colorado. Only one person was executed in 1966.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Congress probably will have to take another recess in October and return after the Nov. 5 elections to complete its 1968 business.

"I would not be surprised if we are in session most of the rest of this year," the Montana senator said Wednesday.

Congress recessed Aug. 2 for the two national political conventions and is to return Sept. 4. Mansfield indicated he did not think a Senate quorum could be maintained if the session runs into October.

2 Men Injured In 1-Car Mishap

Two Circleville men were injured in a one-car accident on Kingston Pike near Renick Road about 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Taken to Berger Hospital were Glenn Forrest, 20, of 215 W. Mound St., and Harold Temple, 20, of 180 Nicholas Drive. Forrest, driver of the car, suffered lacerations about the head and Temple, a passenger, complained of back pains.

The Forrest vehicle was southbound on Kingston Pike, according to the sheriff's department, and had just crossed Renick Road when the driver lost control of his vehicle. The car went left of the center line, traveling on the hard surface for 246 feet, and then went off the road striking a telephone pole and landing in a deep ditch. The car was demolished.

Forrest was charged by the sheriff's department with failure to keep his vehicle under control.

Miss Wilhelm and Miss Burkhardt were killed Wednesday and three other persons hurt in a two-car collision on U.S. 6 a mile west of Bowling Green.

King was killed when his truck, carrying explosives, blew a tire and overturned on Interstate 75 north of Findlay.

McCarthy burned to death Wednesday when his truck carrying fuel oil, jack-knifed and exploded on Interstate 271 in Beechwood, Cuyahoga County. He was engulfed in flames when he tried to climb from the truck.

ative opponents from the ruling party Presidium and the Central Committee.

The seven Central Committee members who have declared loyalty to the Soviet-led occupation troops, tried to shift today's meeting to the party-owned Praha Hotel.

Soviet tanks and armored cars guarded the approaches to the hotel. Several black limousines were parked outside.

The proliberal station broadcast warnings to congress delegates not to go to the hotel, which it said was a trap.

The calling of the congress was another attempt to discredit the pro-Soviet members of the Presidium, who include Slovak party chief Vasil Bilak and Dr. Bohumir Kolder, a former head of economic planning.

The proliberal radio this morning mentioned Rude Pravo editor Oldrich Svestka as one of the pro-Soviet members, but later broadcasts dropped his name.

He was reported arrested by Soviet troops Wednesday, although he has come out against some of Dubcek's policies in the past.

Dubcek himself was still in Soviet custody, along with other leading members of his liberal regime.

The radio said a general strike started in the South Bohemian district to protest the occupation.

The radio also called on the army to protect President Ludvik Svoboda and not to take orders from anyone except from the legal government.

Czechoslovak secret police, who have kept in the background since Dubcek took over in January, were arresting prominent writers and journalists.

Witnesses reported hundreds of political prisoners were arriving at Pankrac Prison.

Meanwhile an American Embassy motor convoy taking U.S. citizens out of the country cleared a checkpoint outside Prague and was on its way to the West German border crossing point at Rozvadov.

Embassy officials said a Czechoslovak motorcycle policeman was escorting the convoy of about 20 embassy and private cars.

Dozens of British, Dutch and West German cars joined the American convoy.

Among the Americans was actress Shirley Temple Black, who left the tourist-flooded Alcron Hotel clutching a bouquet of red roses given her by a weeping chamber maid.

Czechoslovakia's chief of state and Parliament insisted that the Russians and their allies—Poles, East Germans, Hungarians and Bulgarians—free captive liberal leaders and go home, leaving the nation to pursue its free brand of communism.

"There is no way back from freedom and democracy for Czechoslovakia," Svoboda said in an address over the clandestine radio station.

"The situation must be solved rapidly and the troops must leave," the 72-year-old president said, adding that he hoped a solution could be reached today.

Even as he spoke, a quarter-hour firefight against the occupation troops broke out in Prague. Hundreds of casualties already had been reported in scattered cases of resistance.

The occupation forces imposed a midnight-5 a.m. curfew and announced they would shoot without questions at anyone who appeared on the streets.

The Parliament adopted its defiant stance at an emergency meeting Wednesday. Occupation troops entered the Parliament building but the assembly continued in session.

Broadcasts said seven persons were killed in fighting around the Prague Radio offices, six in Liberec 55 miles northeast of Prague and 10 in the east Slovak town of Kosice.

Reports from Kosice said some Soviet soldiers were killed by a Molotov cocktail thrown in their tank, and that Russian troops fired on a crowd, killing a youth, 17, and wounding about 20 persons.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK, before reporting it had been put out of business at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, said about 180 persons were wounded in Prague.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More convicts were on death row in American prisons last year than at any time since 1953, but only two men were executed, the Bureau of Prisons reports.

In its annual report on capital punishment, the bureau said Wednesday 435 persons were under sentence of death during 1967. This was the highest number on record and double the 1960 figure.

Two murderers went to the gas chamber last year—one in California and the other in Colorado. Only one person was executed in 1966.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Congress probably will have to take another recess in October and return after the Nov. 5 elections to complete its 1968 business.

"I would not be surprised if we are in session most of the rest of this year," the Montana senator said Wednesday.

Congress recessed Aug. 2 for the two national political conventions and is to return Sept. 4. Mansfield indicated he did not think a Senate quorum could be maintained if the session runs into October.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atmospheric pressure on the surface of Venus may be 75 to 100 times that on earth and the planet's surface temperature may be greater than 900 degrees, two scientists conclude.

Dr. Arvidas J. Kliore and Dan L. Cain of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., reported their Venus air density calculations Wednesday in the American Meteorological Society's Journal of Atmospheric Sciences.

Garden Gossip and Helpful Hints

By MRS. E. P. HANSON
"The Lady by the Lake"

The rewards of the hours spent weeding and cultivating are now paying off. The vegetables from the kitchen and table gardens are numerous if the reports I have received are true. The rains came at just the time needed most. The tomatoes, beans and corn have been most productive. It's time to keep the matured fruits of peppers, eggplants and the beans picked so that the newer ones will ripen before frost.

The katyids have been singing for a couple of weeks now, so that usually ushers in the first frost about the second week in September. It would be nice if it held off a little while longer, but signs are there in the yards and gardens now if we look sharply.

Don't forget to order your peony plants for bloom next spring. I have been promising my husband that I would get him some, so this is the year. With the red house, I think white ones would show off best.

There was a telephone call about Mrs. Clayton Baum of Ashville from her daughter that Mrs. Baum has a night-blooming Cereus with ten buds ready to open. Her friends and neighbors are most welcome to come in and see the delightful sight.

The night-blooming Cereus is a very interesting plant. It is a native of our own Southwest. It grows to a height of sixty feet, blooms only at night and the flowers last just that one night. It grows from California to Chile. I believe that there are several plants being cultivated here in Circleville. The one that was raised at the Walnut St. Greenhouse was one that I personally saw bloom several years ago.

If you haven't taken your house plants out for a good washing and a little sunlight, remember just a little sun and a gentle rain, if you have had them out all summer, be thinking about bringing them in.

The Richard Fullen home at 103 Northridge Road has an attractive planting of lavender and pink petunias. They have bloomed all summer and seem so light and bright.

The Carl Leist's next door took out a mahomey bush at the foot of their driveway and put in a variety of flowers, including geraniums, coleus, petunias and many others.

Coleus plants are very popular in Circleville gardens and Mrs. E. Fox on Route 3, has about eight varieties. When I took refuge on her porch one day last week during a storm, I saw close hand what a lovely flower box and planter they make. Of course, she gave me some slips and it is nip and tuck with me if they live. Things just don't root and grow for me.

This beautiful bright and clear morning found me spending some time with the John Masts in their garden. Lifetime residents of this area, they have a garden which reflects their many interests and love of growing things. Their typical brick Ohio farm home is well over a hundred years old. Ivy covered, shaded by hard maples with ivy ground cover, it was nice and cool. The two purple martin houses were filled with singing birds. Two families of birds nested in long necked gourds hanging from tall trees. A walk through the garden revealed many interesting plants. The hardy poinsettia, raised from seed, will be turning a brilliant red in a few weeks. In the same bed a great many deep mahogany colored coleus, all volunteers, grew.

Under our feet scampered several little banty chickens one of the grandchildren had brought out to the farm. Pink, white and red begonias have had many blooms. Great many coleus of all shades combined with a deep purple wandering Jew, and pink geraniums were at one arm of the garden.

Across the middle of that arm were eight or ten Jerusalem cherries.

Marigolds of all kinds and colors abound in the garden with mums. The mums are in bloom and Mrs. Mast informed me that she did not cut hers back as they should be. They were nice and bushy and the foliage was nice and green, not a bit stalky as they have a tendency to do when not cut off at intervals. Mrs. Mast has taken ribbons on her roses at many flower shows. The ever favorite and mine, the Chrysler with a pink Peace, Garden Party, Tropicanna, Pink Parfait, Crimson Glory, her favorite and mine, the Chrysler Imperial, and a Royal Highness given to them by Mrs. Sarah Pugsly.

Ageranums, Bells of Ireland, Zinnias, white and pink Phlox with dwarf Dahalias that were red, pink, white, yellow, flat faced and pom-pom type grow there.

Lilacs and raspberries grow along the driveway fence line. Their daughter gave them a cranberry bush and it has grown as tall as the lilac. A leather leaf verbenas, shiny leaved magnolia, grow under the bird houses. Several years ago six small twigs of flowering crab apples were put in the ground. Now, there are large trees growing in the middle of the big garden. First Lady, a pink petunia, red cox combs, iris in season, peonies, marigolds all sizes, shapes and colors form a background for the lamb ears, carnations, snapdragons and resurrection lilies.

There was only one castor bean plant in the garden. I realized that I had not seen them like I used to here in Circleville. Many people grew such tall ones that they made places of shade where needed. Maybe this was not a good year for them. From the house to the barn is a large grape arbor covered with grape vines sharing the spotlight with tall sunflowers, loaded with seeds for the birds.

Mrs. Shelby Teegarden gave

The Circleville Herald, Thur. Aug. 22, 1968 3

Mrs. Mast her Fever few plants that grow along side the Golden Plate. The Golden Plate was a plant that I had never seen before. I don't believe it is grown very much around here. The hydranges in pink were big, fluffy balls of color a midst the cucumbers, tomatoes, beans and the summer squash.

A tall Ohio Buckeye tree grows in the middle of the garden and the seed was given at a garden club meeting several years ago by Dr. Jones' wife. Mr. Mast has mowed it down two different times and now wants to move it. Mrs. Mast says no as she is afraid the shock might kill it. The last thing in the garden was the large spread of old English Holly. The shiny leaves were shaped with the sawtooth edges and glistened in the morning sunshine. If I had my choice of only one plant, it would be an English Holly.

The roadsides in the country are in bloom with black-eyed Susans. Some are very small and others so large. Many of us have not seen them since we were small children walking on dirt byways in the country.

Reluctant Cuts

The president's reluctant willingness to cut U.S. government payrolls overseas shows that it can be done if such action is necessary.

The effort is estimated to achieve a cut of $2 million to $832 million in overseas spending, a sensitive area in the nation's fiscal problems.

It isn't so much a matter of how much is spent, but the fact that it is spent abroad, because the problem is the balance of payments gap between what the United States spends abroad and what other countries spend here.

Cuts should have been made earlier, but they were not because the administration contended that U.S. production is such that the nation can afford stupendous expenditures for domestic programs and a costly war in Vietnam.

Despite prosperity, however, the drain on the gold supply has been relentless, and Congress rightly insisted upon a $6-billion cut in government spending as a condition for its approval of a 10 percent surtax requested by the administration.

Congress will have cut about half of the $6 billion out of the budget, leaving $3 billion to be cut out by the administration.

This is a formidable task, but it can be done.

The president has begun by approving the cuts in foreign staffs, mostly under the employ of ambassadors. Undoubtedly much more can be accomplished — hardly a government agency exists that doesn't have an overseas staff.

Departments that have people in other countries include State, Treasury, Agriculture and many others. A reassessment should result in many further cuts in overseas spending.

Some reductions in the number of military personnel and their dependents would also help. Reductions could probably be made safely in Spain and Turkey, for example, but they will never be made unless Congress forces the administrative branch to act.

Nor should the White House overlook the agencies at home.

Most government agencies could probably trim the size of their staffs without jeopardizing the overall mission of the federal government.

In fact, a reduction might result in an improvement.

AS A NOTORIOUSLY long-winded legal eagle was about to summarize his arguments in a case already prolonged, the judge facetiously admonished him, "Please do not cast too many pearls before swine." "Don't worry, Your Honor," countered the lawyer. "I am about to address the jury, not the court."

"Minnesota Fats," unquestionably the most famous pool shark in the world, was born Rudolf Wanderone, Jr. on a farm in the Midwest. Today, wealthy and rotund (he tips the scale at 270 pounds) he's still a farmer at heart, though he told interviewer Clip Amory, "By 1954 I was so great in pool I broke everybody. Nobody would dream of playing me today except with other people's money. With their own dough, those guys wouldn't bet me that fat meat is greasy." Minnesota Fats added, perhaps unnecessarily, "Modesty is for stiff."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A number of hospitals in the eastern part of the United States send out daily bulletins about the pollen count. Of what particular interest can this be to sufferers of hay fever when there are so many different plants and flowers?

Dear Mr. L.: There are a great many news items which are far more contributory to our destiny than the morning, noon, and night pollen counts. My patients can tell by counting their sneezes how great is the concentration of a particular pollen that offends them.

Most people who are highly sensitive to golden rod and ragweed can almost set their calendar time clocks by their previous experiences with the onset of running nose, itching eyes, sneezing, and general enervation.

I believe that the real value of a pollen count is to those people with some form of hay fever who are planning to travel into an area that is unfamiliar to them, unfamiliar from the point of view of the growth of offending weeds, plants, and flowers.

There does not always seem to be a definite relationship between the hay fever miseries and the magnitude of the pollen count. To those, who are not hay fever victims, the pollen count is as important as listening to the late weather reports which tell us the strength of the tides in Tahiti.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. L.: This is always an anxiety producing situation, especially when there is some deafness in the past history of the family.

Children with normal hearing begin to recognize the direction of sounds and respond to noises as early as three or four months. Some time between twelve and fifteen months, the child begins to speak simply words. Since all speech is mimetic or learned by repeating what he hears, this is a good index of normal hearing.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

This letter is in reference to the article in Monday's Herald, concerning Ron Hamilton.

Mr. Hamilton was very unjustly ridiculed by the Herald because of his numerous parking tickets. The Herald failed to tell the whole story — which is not too humorous.

Ron lives on North Scioto St., on which there are parking meters. He has no place to park his car when he comes home from work because of these parking meters. Where is he supposed to park his car? Certainly not in the yard of the person he rents from!

This has been a big problem to not only Ron, but to the other couples that rent houses or apartments along the same street, and have to put up with the tremendous cost of feeding those meters.

NEW YORK (AP) — Restlessness is increasing in the executive suite, where once a man rose step by step, slowly and patiently absorbing the attitudes of the firm, eventually even reaching the top spot if his ladder was long enough.

But look what's happened:

TODAY In History

Today is Thursday, Aug. 22, the 235th day of 1968. There are 131 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, Nazi troops reached the outskirts of the Soviet city of Leningrad during World War II.

On this date: In 1854, the man who has gone down in history as the first Jewish immigrant to America, Jacob Barsimmon, landed at New Amsterdam.

In 1776, during the Revolutionary War, the British put 10,000 soldiers ashore on New York's Long Island.

In 1846, the annexation of New Mexico as U.S. territory was proclaimed at Santa Fe.

Ten years ago — The U.S. atomic submarine "Skate" cancelled a visit to Copenhagen at the request of the Danish government, which feared radiation danger.

Five years ago — The U.N. Security Council met to hear Israel's charges of aggression by Syria.

One year ago — Thousands of fire fighters were battling fires over a vast mountain area in the northwestern United States.

one-fifth of today's corporate heads, aside from the "birth elite" who landed in the job because of family ownership, have spent less than three years with their company.

Rather than having come up through their company's ranks, they have climbed the ladder in one or more companies and then leaped sideways and slightly up to their present job or to the jobs just below it.

This, in the terminology of Dr. Eugene Emerson Jennings, is leveraging, and by 1970, he estimates, every corporate president will have leveraged at least once and that 60 per cent will have leveraged twice.

Leveraging is just one of the tools executives use in today's strenuous climb to the top, a route Jennings feels "is one of the most rigorous tests of emotional control that we have devised except for the presidency."

Jennings is an authority, no question about it. In fact, he is to many THE authority, having written "The Mobile Manager," a handbook that charts and computerizes the study of routes to the top, and other books on the executive mind and emotions.

He is, first of all, a Michigan State professor. But he is also a practicing psychologist, a corporate consultant, an executive counselor. He has spent 20 years questioning and examining executives at their habits and traits.

In today's mobile society, Jennings explains, a man often leverages when his upward route is blocked by a slow moving superior or when he makes a grave mistake he feels cannot be overcome.

By its use, he feels, a lot of good men are finding their way into top spots. And a lot of corporations are finding men whose skills, talents and ideas could not have been developed in one company.

Today's executive, he has found, considers himself a professional rather than an employee, a man whose talents can be transferred from one corporation to another if necessary. He is less tied by feelings of corporate loyalty. His loyalty is to his profession.

As a result, Jennings feels, leveraging will increase and job contracts and other binds to a corporation may grow less popular in the near future. To Jennings this is healthy.

By contrast, he points to the shelf sitter, the man who has been blocked and passed by in a corporation. Once known as a shelf sitter, a man isn't likely to get a nod anymore than a housewife is likely to pick up a can of baked beans that has been at the dusty rear of the shelf for a year.

Shelf sitters are shopworn. Generally at some time in their careers they resisted change, resisted new ideas, only to find, Jennings says, that they were resisting a tidal wave. "They were washed aside by men who could control change with new ideas."

Ideas, says Jennings, are what management purchases today. The man who can sell ideas, spell them out and then stand behind them is in great demand. But shelf sitters resist them. For this they pay dearly.

"The greatest penalty in the corporation is paid by the closed mind individual," Jennings believes. Naturally he dislikes his job and doesn't do it well. His home life is hurt, and his body too. "People who don't like their job get old quickly. They regress. They oversubscribe to such things as sleep and alcohol."

Can the shelf-sitter be dusted off? Can he resume his progress in a company? Sometimes, but it's difficult, Jennings feels. "No management group is more difficult to teach than a bunch of shelf sitters." Do they have a future? Yes, in leveraging.

"A shelf sitter in one company can be a standout in another. His weaknesses don't travel as fast as his strengths," Jennings has found and so, apparently, have many of today's highly mobile and leveraged top executives.

Demo Credentials Group Ousts Mississippi Slate

CHICAGO (AP) — The Democratic Convention Credentials Committee has slapped down as racist the party leadership in Mississippi, tossing out the state's convention delegation in favor of a biracial group organized two months ago.

In a strenuous three-hour executive session Tuesday night that climaxed a grueling 14-hour day, the committee also dealt a blow to the presidential hopes of Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy by rejecting four challenges in which his supporters sought more delegates.

McCarthy supporters in Washington, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Minnesota failed to convince the 108-member committee that they had not received their fair share of members on the four state delegations.

The action against Mississippi was unprecedented. It grew out of a 1964 mandate passed after a bitter convention fight over an all-white Mississippi delegation. The mandate ordered Democrats not to discriminate by race when selecting convention delegates.

"The committee felt the state Democratic party had not responded to the antidiscrimination guidelines," chairman Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said.

"The party's honor and reputation were involved in this decision," he said. "It shows the Democratic party means business when it makes a solemn pledge before the country that it intends to root out racism."

"I hope that in Mississippi a great rebuilding of the whole party will take place."

The 84-10 vote by which the committee rejected the state party leadership's delegation, and the 85-9 vote by which it approved seating the so-called "loyal Democrats" must be approved by the full convention. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, McCarthy, and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the three major contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination had supported the challenge.

See U.S. Not in Position To Get Tough over Czechs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet troop movement into Czechoslovakia comes at a time when the U.S. 7th Army, backbone of West Europe's defense, is at its lowest strength in years.

Because of the balance of payments problem, U.S. Army forces in West Germany have been cut to about 200,000 men and are due to drop even further by Sept. 30.

By contrast, the U.S. Army had about 273,000 soldiers arrayed along the Iron Curtain during the Berlin crisis of 1961.

U.S. tactical air strength also has been cut to ease the gold-dollar drain and to beef up U.S. air power elsewhere. The Air Force's tactical fighter strength in West Germany is down to five squadrons.

Because of this—and even more because the United States has about 543,000 men pinned down in the Vietnam war—the last problem U.S. military leaders wish to face at this time is a crisis in Europe.

The attitude of U.S. military men throughout the period of Russian threats against Czechoslovakia this summer could be summed up in this sentence: "Leave us out; we have enough problems of our own."

The United States has no military commitment to Czechoslovakia, nor does it have even an implied moral commitment to that Communist country which in the past has been as hostile to the United States as any other East European Communist state.

American officers who have assessed the relative military strength of Czechoslovakia and its Communist neighbors have felt it would be suicide for the Czechs to resist if invaded by Russia and other Warsaw Pact armies.

This realization also may have prompted the Czech leadership to caution its people against resisting.

According to recent estimates, a Czech army of some 175,000 men in 14 divisions faces overwhelming Russian, East German, Polish and other Communist force.

The Russian army has some 20 divisions in East Germany, plus four in Hungary and two in Poland. The Russians have based about 900 tactical planes in East Germany alone.

The East German army numbers some 85,000 men in six divisions, the Polish army some 185,000 men in 16 divisions.

In all, Czechoslovakia could send aloft only about 600 fighter planes, most of them old model Russian-built MIGs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Pistell, a big game hunter who looks like a pro football line-backer, at 40 has bulled his way to prominence as one of the more fabulous figures of Wall Street.

At 16 he was an ordinary seaman. At 30 he was a millionaire. Today, as a corporate empire builder, he seems to acquire new firms almost with the ease of a man picking up a dropped penny.

"I read investment reports with the same enjoyment most people get out of novels," he remarked.

The self-made son of a Buffalo finance company owner, Dick became angry after graduating from high school in 1944 and found none of the armed services would take him because of his youth. He promptly joined the Merchant Marine.

"In the next 3 1/2 years I sailed every sea in the world and worked up to purser," he said. "It was one of the greatest things that ever happened to me. You learn about life, see the world, and make your own way."

Back ashore, the bulky youth — Dick is still fast on his feet at 245 pounds — began to set records as a door-to-door insurance salesman. Then he switched to a Manhattan-based underwriting firm and in a few short years made a fortune and won a reputation as a financial adviser and doctor to sick companies.

Pistell's chief seat of power now is the chairmanship of his parent concern, the Goldfield Corp., successor to a mining company the late Bernard M. Baruch helped found in 1906.

"I started in 1961 with a $5,000 investment and took control after a proxy battle," Dick recalled. "The shares then were worth $2 million. Now they're worth about $100 million. That's not a bad parlay."

Working out from that company base, Pistell has spread his financial network into General Host, $200-million-a-year firm which bosses a chain of bakeries, tourist resorts, and several hundred convenience stores. He is also involved in a Caribbean airline and extensive mining interests in Canada and the United States.

Dick's latest venture is the acquisition by purchase or option of a 10 per cent interest in Armour & Co., the 32nd largest corporation in America, which does a $2.4 billion annual business in food packing, medicines and other enterprises. That may turn out to be the biggest big game hunt of his life.

Pistell plays as hard as he works. He likes deep sea fishing, has made six safaris to Africa, in 1964 shot an eight-foot tiger in Nepal — "the largest bagged there in 50 years."

What is the secret of his business success?

"Luck, enthusiasm, determination, persistence," he replied. "You can't afford to get discouraged. If you have common sense and persistence, there is very little you can't do."

"You also have to develop a knack of picking the right people and an ability to meet a situation or a trend ahead of time — such as the swing to convenience foods and tourism. That's a sixth sense in a way."

"But success and victory usually go with enjoyment of what you do. My work is my real life and pleasure."

Dick is an apostle of the businessman as artist.

"An artist is creative," he said. "But so is a businessman. Businessmen are often criticized, but they create new industries, new jobs, new products. The businessman is one of the country's assets."

What would he like to be if he weren't a financier?

A chef — there's no doubt about it," said Dick, a handy man in the kitchen himself. "Look how they live!"

The Congested Air Traffic

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The airlines figure that delays at the major airports cost passengers some $50 million in productive time in 1967, and the loss, they say, will run into several hundred million for 1968. The figures aren't definite: for myself, I finished a couple of long-neglected books above Kennedy Airport while circling for a couple of hours on the way in from Dallas on one occasion, and during an hour's delay in from Miami Beach on another. The books should be useful for future columnists, and I wouldn't have finished them otherwise. But even if there is no good measure of productive time for air travelers, the loss is bad enough.

Something has got to give in this business of air travel slowdowns. The long-term solutions — new ports, new runways, better taxi service into the cities and to other ports — are at least eight years away. But airlines are buying new jets right now, and the jumbo jets will soon be with us.

Meanwhile, 133 million people flew the airways last year, and the passenger traffic grows every year at a fifteen per cent rate. Eight years for new airports is too long to wait. So we need a short-run solution for temporary alleviation.

The near-term problem, when it is narrowed down to specifics, is centered on four cities and six major airports. There are Chicago, with O'Hare Airport; Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., and New York (the latter with Kennedy, La Guardia, and Newark airports). Because air traffic congests in and out of the four cities, there is a backup problem at many a lesser airport. But the cure lies in the approaches to the big metropolises.

No doubt the traffic controllers, who are government employees and hence unable to strike, have had to use the slow-down in order to make their demands for additional help clear. The controllers have been applying the rules about safe air space with absolute literalness. But even if there were more controllers to do the work, it is difficult to see how the airports can handle all the new passengers and the new planes that will be with us in a year or so.

The only possible way of clearing places like O'Hare and Kennedy for the ever-increasing glut of commercial passengers is to adopt more stringent regulations about the use of public airports by planes that do not belong to the big franchised public carriers. The figures for private use of the big airports are suggestive. For Kennedy, seventeen per cent of the incoming and outgoing planes are private; for La Guardia, the figure jumps to thirty-seven per cent; for Newark, it is thirty-two per cent. Actually, the seventeen per cent for Kennedy shrinks to six per cent if you exclude the needed air taxi services (the short hop planes that take people to other nearby ports). One-third of the private planes at La Guardia are taxis. But it would still help to relieve the congestion if the private business planes were routed to other fields.

There happen to be 10,000 airports in the United States. Of these, 528 are commercial ports used by scheduled carriers. Subtract the six ports that serve New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Washington, and you have 520 commercial ports that the private planes could go on using with no discomfort to anybody. At least three thousand of the ports that do not take scheduled trips could be used by business planes.

So why not have some priorities, as Stuart Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, reasonably suggests? His idea, as explained in a letter to the Federal Aviation Administration, would be to give first call on a port to transport airplanes carrying one hundred passengers or more.

Private planes coming into the big congested ports have to over the public carriers in that they do not have to file flight plans. They show up aloft, and get into the rotation on a first-come, first-served basis. No doubt they would squeal if compelled to file flight plans, or if they were shunted off to distant ports. But while we are waiting eight years for a second O'Hare at Chicago and a second Kennedy some place on Long Island or in Westchester County, someone has to suffer. Should it be the big jet carrying 150 weary people in from overseas, or should it be the private business plane transporting two, six or eight?

Reluctant Cuts

The president's reluctant willingness to cut U.S. government payrolls overseas shows that it can be done if such action is necessary.

The effort is estimated to achieve a cut of $2 million to $832 million in overseas spending, a sensitive area in the nation's fiscal problems.

It isn't so much a matter of how much is spent, but the fact that it is spent abroad, because the problem is the balance of payments gap between what the United States spends abroad and what other countries spend here.

Cuts should have been made earlier, but they were not because the administration contended that U.S. production is such that the nation can afford stupendous expenditures for domestic programs and a costly war in Vietnam.

Despite prosperity, however, the drain on the gold supply has been relentless, and Congress rightly insisted upon a $6-billion cut in government spending as a condition for its approval of a 10 percent surtax requested by the administration.

Congress will have cut about half of the $6 billion out of the budget, leaving $3 billion to be cut out by the administration.

This is a formidable task, but it can be done.

The president has begun by approving the cuts in foreign staffs, mostly under the employ of ambassadors. Undoubtedly much more can be accomplished — hardly a government agency exists that doesn't have an overseas staff.

Departments that have people in other countries include State, Treasury, Agriculture and many others. A reassessment should result in many further cuts in overseas spending.

Some reductions in the number of military personnel and their dependents would also help. Reductions could probably be made safely in Spain and Turkey, for example, but they will never be made unless Congress forces the administrative branch to act.

Nor should the White House overlook the agencies at home.

Most government agencies could probably trim the size of their staffs without jeopardizing the overall mission of the federal government.

In fact, a reduction might result in an improvement.

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A number of hospitals in the eastern part of the United States send out daily bulletins about the pollen count. Of what particular interest can this be to sufferers of hay fever when there are so many different plants and flowers?

Mr. H.L., New Jersey Dear Mr. L.: There are a great many news items which are far more contributory to our destiny than the morning, noon, and night pollen counts. My patients can tell by counting their sneezes how great is the concentration of a particular pollen that offends them.

Most people who are highly sensitive to golden rod and ragweed can almost set their calendar time clocks by their previous experiences with the onset of running nose, itching eyes, sneezing, and general enervation.

I believe that the real value of a pollen count is to those people with some form of hay fever who are planning to travel into an area that is unfamiliar to them, unfamiliar from the point of view of the growth of offending weeds, plants, and flowers.

The self-made son of a Buffalo finance company owner, Dick became angry after graduating from high school in 1944 and found none of the armed services would take him because of his youth. He promptly joined the Merchant Marine.

"In the next 3½ years I sailed every sea in the world and worked up to purser," he said. "It was one of the greatest things that ever happened to me. You learn about life, see the world, and make your own way."

Back ashore, the bulky youth — Dick is still fast on his feet at 245 pounds — began to set records as a door-to-door insurance salesman. Then he switched to a Manhattan-based underwriting firm and in a few short years made a fortune and won a reputation as a financial adviser and doctor to sick companies.

Pistell's chief seat of power now is the chairmanship of his parent concern, the Goldfield Corp., successor to a mining company the late Bernard M. Baruch helped found in 1906.

"I started in 1961 with a $5,000 investment and took control after a proxy battle," Dick recalled. "The shares then were worth $2 million. Now they're worth about $100 million. That's not a bad parlay."

Working out from that company base, Pistell has spread his financial network into General Host, $200-million-a-year firm which bosses a chain of bakeries, tourist resorts, and several hundred convenience stores. He is also involved in a Caribbean airline and extensive mining interests in Canada and the United States.

Dick's latest venture is the acquisition by purchase or option of a 10 per cent interest in Armour & Co., the 32nd largest corporation in America, which does a $2.4 billion annual business in food packing, medicines and other enterprises. That may turn out to be the biggest big game hunt of his life.

Pistell plays as hard as he

What is the secret of his business success?

"Luck, enthusiasm, determination, persistence," he replied. "You can't afford to get discouraged. If you have common sense and persistence, there is very little you can't do."

"You also have to develop a knack of picking the right people and an ability to meet a situation or a trend ahead of time — such as the swing to convenience foods and tourism. That's a sixth sense in a way."

"But success and victory usually go with enjoyment of what you do. My work is my real life and pleasure."

Dick is an apostle of the businessman as artist.

"An artist is creative," he said. "But so is a businessman. Businessmen are often criticized, but they create new industries, new jobs, new products. The businessman is one of the country's assets."

What would he like to be if he weren't a financier?

A chef — there's no doubt about it," said Dick, a handy man in the kitchen himself. "Look how they live!"

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The airlines figure that delays at the major airports cost passengers some $50 million in productive time in 1967, and the loss, they say, will run into several hundred million for 1968.

The figures aren't definite: for myself, I finished a couple of long-neglected books above Kennedy Airport while circling for a couple of hours on the way in from Dallas on one occasion, and during an hour's delay in from Miami Beach on another. The books should be useful for future columning, and I wouldn't have finished them otherwise. But even if there is no good measure of productive time for air travelers, the loss is had enough.

Something has got to give in this business of air travel slowdowns. The long-term solutions — new ports, new runways, better taxi service into the cities and to other ports — are at least eight years away. But airlines are buying new jets right now, and the jumbo jets will soon be with us.

Meanwhile, 133 million people flew the airways last year, and the passenger traffic grows every year at a fifteen per cent rate. Eight years for new airports is too long to wait. So we need a short-run solution for temporary application.

The near-term problem, when it is narrowed down to specifics, is centered on four cities and six major airports. There are Chicago, with O'Hare Airport; Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., and New York (the latter with Kennedy, La Guardia, and Newark airports). Because air traffic congeals in and out of the four cities, there is a backup problem at many a lesser airport. But the cure lies in the approaches to the big metropolises.

No doubt the traffic controllers, who are government employees and hence unable to strike, have had to use the slow-down in order to make their demands for additional help clear. The controllers have been applying the rules about safe air space with absolute literalness. But even if there were more controllers to do the work, it is difficult to see how the airports can handle all the new passengers and the new planes that will be with us in a year or so.

The only possible way of clearing places like O'Hare and Kennedy for the ever-increasing glut of commercial passengers is to adopt more stringent regulations about the use of public airports by planes that do not belong to the big franchised public carriers. The figures for private use of the big airports are suggestive. For Kennedy, seventeen per cent of the incoming and outgoing planes are private; for La Guardia, the figure jumps to thirty-seven per cent; for Newark, it is thirty-two per cent. Actually, the seventeen per cent for Kennedy shrinks to six per cent if you exclude the needed air taxi services (the short hop planes that take people to other nearby ports). One-third of the private planes at La Guardia are taxis. But it would still help to relieve the congestion if the private business planes were routed to other fields.

There happen to be 10,000 airports in the United States. Of these, 526 are commercial ports used by scheduled carriers. Subtract the six ports that serve New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Washington, and you have 520 commercial ports that the private planes could go on using with no discomfort to anybody. At least three thousand of the ports that do not take scheduled trips could be used by business planes.

So why not have some priorities, as Stuart Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, reasonably suggests? His idea, as explained in a letter to the Federal Aviation Administration, would be to give first call on a port to transport airplanes carrying one hundred passengers or more.

Private planes coming into the big congested ports have it over the public carriers in that they do not have to file flight plans. They show up aloft, and get into the rotation on a first-come, first-served basis. No doubt they would squeal if compelled to file flight plans, or if they were shunted off to distant ports. But while we are waiting eight years for a second O'Hare at Chicago and a second Kennedy some place on Long Island or in Westchester County, someone has to suffer. Should it be the big jet carrying 150 weary people in from overseas, or should it be the private business plane transporting two, six or eight?

Don't Bug Boots If You Want 'Podner'

DEAR ABBY: Please notice that this letter is from ELIZABETH, NEW JERSEY. There is a man I go with and like very much, but he is a nut about one thing. He wears TEXAS-type cowboy boots all the time! He wears regular clothes like every other well-dressed man in Elizabeth, but he will not wear anything else but these western style boots. I once asked him if he's from Texas, but he said no. He had once visited in Fort Worth and had become accustomed to cowboy boots — and found them to be so comfortable that he now won't wear anything else.

Don't you think they are out of place here? How can I get him to chuck these boots and be more normal?

INTERESTED IN HIM
DEAR INTERESTED: Let him wear what he wants, and don't criticize him. And if you are truly "interested in him," keep him foot happy. No man ever proposed to a woman when his feet hurt.

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently was divorced and married again. His second wife (also divorced) worked for him and there was a lot of talk about these two. Many said it was she who broke up his home.

We tried to be friendly and invited them to our home for supper many times. They came only once, and after that they were always "busy." Our son drops in to see us often, without her. We have never been invited to their home.

One Sunday, when our son was here, his wife phoned for him and I answered. She said, "I hope you don't feel hurt that I don't see more of you, but I would rather associate with other people. I don't want to get too attached to you for the simple reason that when you PASS AWAY I won't miss you so much."

Needless to say, I was dumbfounded. What do you make of this? We're not going to force ourselves on her. But isn't there something wrong with her thinking? What would you do in our place?

HURT
DEAR HURT: I would steer clear of her. And tell your son to save his money. He may need it for psychiatric help. She sounds sick.

DEAR HIS: I don't know what it's like at YOUR home, and what it's like at HIS home, how you feel about his family, etc. But a woman who is old enough to be a wife and mother should be mature enough to make her own decision. I say, in your husband's absence go where you feel more at home.

Useful Essay on Lamb For the Stove or Grill

By ALICE DENHOFF
For indoor or outdoor cooking, lamb is "in." There are 12 cuts to choose from if you wish to broil inside or cook on the charcoal grill outside.

SUCCULENT LAMB CHOPS
6 loin lamb chops, 1½-in. thick
Salt
Monosodium glutamate
Pepper
¼ c. bottled Italian salad dressing
1 tsp. each lemon juice and soy sauce
½ tsp. oregano leaves
½ tsp. ginger

Sprinkle chops with first 3 ingredients. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Broil chops 5 to 6" from source of heat, 10 to 12 min. per side, or until desired degree of doneness, brushing frequently with sauce.

Garnish with lemon slices, as desired.

GLISTENING SHISH KEBAB
2 c. red currant jelly
1½ c. lime juice
¼ c. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. nutmeg
1½ lb. lean lamb cubes, 1½ to 2" Monosodium glutamate
Salt
Pepper
1 jar (12½ oz.) kumquats, drained
12 large fresh mushrooms

Mix together first 6 ingredients in saucepan. Heat, stirring, until butter is melted and glaze is smooth. Place lamb on 6 skewers; season with next 3 ingredients. Broil on rotisserie 20 min. or until desired doneness is reached, brushing frequently with glaze. Skewer kumquats and mushrooms and broil 5 to 10 min., brushing frequently with glaze. Serve with remaining glaze.

PINEAPPLE GLAZED LEG OF LAMB
1 leg of lamb
1 tsp., whole cloves
2 tsp. salt
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
3 tsp. lemon juice
½ c. firmly packed brown sugar
¼ tsp. ground ginger
2 tsp. cornstarch
2 lemons, cut in wedges

Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Stud with cloves. Sprinkle with salt. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 30 to 35 min. per pound or until thermometer registers 176 degrees for medium doneness.

Meanwhile, combine next 6 ingredients, mixing well. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until thickened and clear. Spread over lamb during last 30 min. of roasting time. Arrange lemon wedges over lamb.

Long-Running Festival Of Fresh Strawberries

By ALICE DENHOFF
Isn't it wonderful that there's a strawberry festival practically the entire year. Improved growing methods and transportation help bring this about. So include luscious fragrant fresh strawberries in the menu and provide generous helpings of this beautiful fruit. It is wise to remember that strawberries, low in calories, high in vitamin C, also provide a valuable assortment of other vital vitamins and minerals.

Here are some recipes:

STRAWBERRIES 'N' CREAM CAKE
2 layers (9") yellow cake
1 c. sugar
¼ c. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
2 pt. strawberries, washed and hulled
2-3 tsp. lemon juice
1½ c. heavy cream
2 tsp. sugar

Prepare your favorite yellow cake mix according to pkg. directions. Bake in two 9-inch layer cake pans; set aside to cool. Combine next 3 ingredients in medium saucepan. Add half of strawberries crush with potato masher. Cook over medium heat until mixture is thick and clear, stirring constantly. Stir in lemon juice; cool thoroughly. Halve or slice remaining strawberries; fold into cooked strawberry mixture. Place one cake layer on serving platter. Spread strawberry filling over cake, saving about 1 cup for top. Place second layer over filling. Spread remaining strawberry mixture on top to within 1 inch of edge. Combine cream and 2 tsp. sugar; whip until stiff. Frost around top and sides of cake.

Chill until serving time.

STRAWBERRY PINEAPPLE SALAD
4 fresh pineapple rings (about ¾" thick)
1 lb. lettuce leaves
1 pint cottage cheese
1 pint fresh strawberries, washed and halved Lemon French Dressing (recipe follows)

To prepare pineapple rings, slice pineapple crosswise. Cut away skin and remove "eyes."

He Will Not Be A Candidate

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts returned to political activity Wednesday with a call for an end to the war in Vietnam and a statement that he is not a candidate for any office this year.

Kennedy was stern and serious as he made his first public speech since the assassination of his brother Sen. Robert F. Kennedy June 5.

Kennedy proposed a four-point program for an end to the Vietnam war:

1. To end unconditionally all bombing of North Vietnam;
2. To then negotiate with Hanoi the mutual withdrawal from South Vietnam of all foreign forces, both allied and North Vietnamese;
3. To accompany this withdrawal with whatever help we can give to the South Vietnamese in building of a viable political, economic and legal structure that will not collapse upon our departure; and
4. To demonstrate to both Hanoi and Saigon the sincerity of our intentions by significantly decreasing this year the level of our military activity and military personnel in the South.

Kennedy, who last month issued a statement saying he was not available to run for vice president, as many political figures had urged, told his audience that he spoke for no partisan interests, but as "one who will not run for office this year."

W. Virginia Trial Minus 1 Defendant

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Trial of former Gov. W. W. Barron and four other persons continued in U.S. District Court here today minus one of the defendants the government alleges entered into complex conspiracy involving state government contracts.

Federal Judge J. Robert Martin, in a surprise development Wednesday removed former State Finance Commissioner Truman E. Gore as a defendant in the proceedings.

Martin ruled that Gore could not be tried as one of the alleged conspirators due to the illness of his attorney, Lloyd Young of Clarksburg.

Martin told the jury as the trial moved through the eighth day that Young "is a sick sick man."

"Only through sheer courage has he (Young) sat here this week, hoping that his physical condition would improve," Martin said. His physical condition has become a matter of grave concern to this court."

Red Rockets Hit Saigon; Other Attacks Reported

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded in the widespread shelling.

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured. The two other men escaped.

The intensified pace of the war included shelling and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

"No military installations were hit," a communique from Abrams' headquarters said.

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets.

Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

U.S. headquarters said the rockets that hit Saigon were fired from positions southeast of the capital.

"Counter-artillery was fired within three minutes on suspected enemy positions with unknown results," headquarters said.

Allied forces repulsed all of the ground attacks, headquarters said, with the help of dive-bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

During attacks on two American fire bases around Tay Ninh City, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, American artillerymen turned their big howitzers point-blank at charging North Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said that 82 enemy were killed in the ground assaults on the two bases of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. American casualties were six killed and 30 wounded.

Headquarters said that 246 enemy troops had been killed in fighting Wednesday and Thursday in Tay Ninh Province, near Cambodian border base camps of the enemy. It was in Tay Ninh Province last Sunday that the Viet Cong touched off their latest round of attacks, shattering a two-month lull in the war. Key enemy infiltration routes lead from Cambodia into Tay Ninh eastward toward Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported heavy fighting in the northernmost 1st Corps area below the Demilitarized Zone and deep in the Mekong Delta. Spokesmen said more than 200 enemy soldiers were killed in four battles in the two widely separated areas Wednesday. Government casualties were reported as 40 killed and 72 wounded.

More than 1,400 enemy troops have been reported killed by Allied troops since last Sunday.

Reported American casualties for the same period were 88 killed and 460 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were said to be light.

In the air war over North Vietnam, American pilots logged 104 missions Wednesday in strikes below the 19th parallel.

Prison . . .

prison inmates was over.

Warden Marion Koloski said five inmates were shot. Another was injured critically when the wall fell on him. One inmate was found with his throat slashed, and authorities believe the critical wound was inflicted by other inmates.

The dead men were taken to the Franklin County morgue, where the coroner was to rule on the cause of death.

Koloski was named warden just six weeks ago.

He said he had agreed to several of the prisoners' demands, including amnesty if they released the hostages and return of 54 prisoners accused in a June 24 riot back into the general inmate population to await grand jury action. Prisoners caused about $1 million damage in the June riot.

"By forcing us to take them by force, they lost both agreements," Koblenz said. Koloski said the prisoners had become "fanatical" in their demands, and "We had to go in and bring them out."

Prison officials could not determine how the inmates obtained the half gallon of gasoline and 40 ounces of lighter fluid they said they would use to burn their hostages.

Two of the guards held hostage said they heard inmates running toward them yelling they had gasoline to "burn the bastards." The rooftop blast floored the advancing prisoners.

The first explosion may have saved the life of another guard being held at knifepoint by an inmate. The blast sent the prisoner reeling back into a wall and the guard escaped.

The decision to storm the prison came, Koblenz said, after Gov. James A. Rhodes authorized whatever force was necessary to free the hostages.

The prisoners had aired a long list of complaints that included alleged mistreatment by guards. They asked for a federal investigation of the prison and the dismissal of 12 guards they called sadistic. They also sought immunity from prosecution for those prisoners that participated in the June riot.

Koloski said many of the rebels would be returned to the same cell blocks they controlled during the uprising.

"All cells with undamaged locks will be put back in use tonight and Thursday," the warden said Wednesday.

Air Pollution Acts Studied in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Air pollution control in Chicago may become more effective now that a package of 17 new amendments has been adopted by the City Council.

Most effective provision is eventual stoppage of burning garbage in coal burners and unapproved incinerators.

Director William J. Stanley said the new amendments were necessary to bring about a visual reduction of air pollution in high density areas of the city.

The first revision since 1959, the legislation will reduce pollution from incineration and garbage burning by 70 per cent.

Other provisions control particle emission from fuel-burning units. The sulphur content of fuels will be limited.

Red Rockets Hit Saigon; Other Attacks Reported

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded in the widespread shelling.

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured. The two other men escaped.

The intensified pace of the war included shelling and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

"No military installations were hit," a communique from Abrams' headquarters said.

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets.

Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

U.S. headquarters said the rockets that hit Saigon were fired from positions southeast of the capital.

"Counter-artillery was fired within three minutes on suspected enemy positions with unknown results," headquarters said.

Allied forces repulsed all of the ground attacks, headquarters said, with the help of dive-bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

During attacks on two American fire bases around Tay Ninh City, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, American artillerymen turned their big howitzers point-blank at charging North Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said that 82 enemy were killed in the ground assaults on the two bases of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. American casualties were six killed and 30 wounded.

Headquarters said that 246 enemy troops had been killed in fighting Wednesday and Thursday in Tay Ninh Province, near Cambodian border base camps of the enemy. It was in Tay Ninh Province last Sunday that the Viet Cong touched off their latest round of attacks, shattering a two-month lull in the war. Key enemy infiltration routes lead from Cambodia into Tay Ninh eastward toward Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported heavy fighting in the northernmost 1st Corps area below the Demilitarized Zone and deep in the Mekong Delta. Spokesmen said more than 200 enemy soldiers were killed in four battles in the two widely separated areas Wednesday. Government casualties were reported as 40 killed and 72 wounded.

More than 1,400 enemy troops have been reported killed by Allied troops since last Sunday.

Reported American casualties for the same period were 88 killed and 460 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were said to be light.

In the air war over North Vietnam, American pilots logged 104 missions Wednesday in strikes below the 19th parallel.

Prison . . .

prison inmates was over.

Warden Marion Koloski said five inmates were shot. Another was injured critically when the wall fell on him. One inmate was found with his throat slashed, and authorities believe the critical wound was inflicted by other inmates.

The dead men were taken to the Franklin County morgue, where the coroner was to rule on the cause of death.

Koloski was named warden just six weeks ago.

He said he had agreed to several of the prisoners' demands, including amnesty if they released the hostages and return of 54 prisoners accused in a June 24 riot back into the general inmate population to await grand jury action. Prisoners caused about $1 million damage in the June riot.

"By forcing us to take them by force, they lost both agreements," Koloski said. Koloski said the prisoners had become "fanatical" in their demands, and "We had to go in and bring them out."

Prison officials could not determine how the inmates obtained the half gallon of gasoline and 40 ounces of lighter fluid they said they would use to burn their hostages.

Two of the guards held hostage said they heard inmates running toward them yelling they had gasoline to "burn the bastards." The rooftop blast flooded the advancing prisoners.

The first explosion may have saved the life of another guard being held at knifepoint by an inmate. The blast sent the prisoner reeling back into a wall and the guard escaped.

The decision to storm the prison came, Koloski said, after Gov. James A. Rhodes authorized whatever force was necessary to free the hostages.

The prisoners had aired a long list of complaints that included alleged mistreatment by guards. They asked for a federal investigation of the prison and the dismissal of 12 guards they called sadistic. They also sought unsuccessfully immunity from prosecution for those prisoners that participated in the June riot.

Koloski said many of the rebels would be returned to the same cell blocks they controlled during the uprising.

"All cells with undamaged locks will be put back in use tonight and Thursday," the warden said Wednesday.

Air Pollution Acts Studied in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Air pollution control in Chicago may become more effective now that a package of 17 new amendments has been adopted by the City Council.

Most effective provision is eventual stoppage of burning garbage in coal burners and unapproved incinerators.

Director William J. Stanley said the new amendments were necessary to bring about a visual reduction of air pollution in high density areas of the city. The first revision since 1959, the legislation will reduce pollution from incineration and garbage burning by 70 per cent. Other provisions control particle emission from fuel-burning units. The sulphur content of fuels will be limited.

U.S. Intelligence Caught Flatfooted by Soviet Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government was caught flatfooted by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia even though American intelligence experts considered such action possible.

The signs of the drastic move by the Soviet Union were there. They apparently weren't read closely enough to make invasion seem likely.

Soviet and other Warsaw Pact armies had been on the move within striking distance of the Czech border, but U.S. authorities regarded this as part of the war of nerves waged since the Prague government started political reforms.

Another sign which, in hindsight, was ominous was the renewal of Soviet and Polish press attacks on the Prague regime.

And senior U.S. officers said the invasion was understandable in light of Moscow's fear that a closer relationship between Czechoslovakia and the West, particularly West Germany, would weaken the protective shield the Soviet Union has built through its satellite allies.

Yet, in spite of these signs, there is no evidence U.S. experts received advance word of the movement by Soviet and satellite troops across the Czech frontier.

In fact, President Johnson learned of the action, not through American intelligence sources, but by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, about three hours after the invasion started.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk's first knowledge came when an Associated Press bulletin was read to the Democratic party Platform Committee while he was testifying on Vietnam policies.

And it was about four hours after the invasion that U.S. radio monitors picked up a Czech broadcast telling of the action.

Youth Faces

Assault Charge

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police filed an additional charge of assault with a deadly weapon against a Negro youth wounded by a policeman during rioting in the Avondale section last Friday night.

The youth, Charles Dunigan, 36, already faces a count of attacking a police officer. He was shot and wounded as he hurled bottles at officers, police said.

New Guns Registered

CHICAGO (AP) — Gun control in Chicago is under an ordinance that requires gun owners to register each gun, but new guns are being registered at the rate of 500 daily since the official registration period closed May 15.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, special assistant for gun registration, said the total registered has reached more than 357,000 with additional registrations mounting as mail is opened.

"The registrations continue to come in," he said. "Although there is no breakdown in the new or used gun categories, it is believed that the new registrations are new guns purchased through dealers."

The gun ordinance makes it an offense to possess a gun — handgun, shotgun, rifle, even an antique or old war souvenir — that is not registered.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Elmer C. Myers, former president of the Cuyahoga County Bar Association, has been sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary on his plea of guilty to embezzlement and forgery.

Myers, 56, was indicted by the county grand jury in 1966 on 11 counts stemming from his alleged mishandling of probate court estates under his trusteeship.

He pleaded guilty to four counts of the indictment last May. Common Pleas Judge Harry Jaffee sentenced Myers Wednesday.

The indictment charged that Myers defrauded clients of nearly $20,000 between 1963 and 1966.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Irwin Allen is a successful television producer who is unique in that the real stars of his series are more likely to be his sets, his props and his camera tricks than his actors.

The man who dreamed up the adventuresome galaxy-exploring family of "Lost in Space" (and left them there as the series ended) and who constructed the futuristic submarine and horrendous monsters of the deep for "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" has come up with another imaginative device for his newest series, "Land of the Giants."

This time, science fiction-loving Allen has seven earthlings stranded on a planet whose inhabitants—flora and fauna—are just like ours except that they are 12 times larger.

Like any magician, Allen will never reveal how he achieves all his camera tricks—in this case he has normal-size actors playing giants in scenes with Lilliputian humans.

In this series, the props have been the problem: six slices of bread were needed for a scene, and were constructed from six pieces of sponge rubber, each four feet by four feet. A giant's revolver came out of the carpentry shop nine-feet long, and a pencil, six feet.

This switch on "Gulliver's Travels" can and will ring in some really off-beat story lines. The earthlings in one show are attacked by an enormous cat; they are captured and imprisoned in a giant dollhouse; they escape from one dangerous situation by using a ruler as a gang-plank. Captured in a giant's office, they are strapped down by strips of plastic mending tape and threatened with a paper clip.

Allen says the new ABC series, which will be a Sunday evening show, "is the most expensive filmed program in the history of television," with each hour costing in excess of $250,000.

"We prepared for 17 months before it went to the cameras," he explained. "There were all sorts of complications to be ironed out. How do you adjust the sound when you have the little people talking to the big people? How do you make furniture when the scale is 12 times larger than life?"

The series, 17 episodes of which are completed, "must be a big hit to survive," he said. "It is so expensive that it has to attract the whole family," added the producer. "We know the kids will watch it and they will identify with the little people. Our job was to write stories that will attract the adults."

Engineer-trained, local Lindsay Soft Water dealer is "Answer Man" on soft water questions that puzzle people.

ACLU To Help Fred Esherick

CLEVELAND (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union says it will help Fred M. Esherick Jr., 16, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the bayonet slaying of his father.

Bernard A. Berkman, general counsel for the ACLU, said Wednesday "there was a conflict of interest between the boy's defense lawyer and a prosecuting witness."

The youth's court-appointed attorney is John S. Nelson, who is appealing the first-degree murder conviction by a Lake County Common Pleas Court jury last Dec. 6. Judge John F. Clair sentenced Esherick to the electric chair for the May, 1967, slaying.

Ex-Cuyahoga Bar President Is Sentenced

CLEVELAND (AP) — Elmer C. Myers, former president of the Cuyahoga County Bar Association, has been sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary on his plea of guilty to embezzlement and forgery.

Myers, 56, was indicted by the county grand jury in 1966 on 11 counts stemming from his alleged mishandling of probate court estates under his trusteeship.

He pleaded guilty to four counts of the indictment last May. Common Pleas Judge Harry Jaffee sentenced Myers Wednesday.

The indictment charged that Myers defrauded clients of nearly $20,000 between 1963 and 1966.

Children learned to read and write at age 4 in Egypt 3,000 years ago, the National Geographic Society says. Teachers corrected schoolwork with red ink, just as many instructors do today.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Irwin Allen is a successful television producer who is unique in that the real stars of his series are more likely to be his sets, his props and his camera tricks than his actors.

The man who dreamed up the adventuresome galaxy-exploring family of "Lost in Space" (and left them there as the series ended) and who constructed the futuristic submarine and horrendous monsters of the deep for "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" has come up with another imaginative device for his newest series, "Land of the Giants."

This time, science fiction-loving Allen has seven earthlings stranded on a planet whose inhabitants—flora and fauna—are just like ours except that they are 12 times larger.

Like any magician, Allen will never reveal how he achieves all his camera tricks—in this case he has normal-size actors playing giants in scenes with Lilliputian humans.

In this series, the props have been the problem: six slices of bread were needed for a scene, and were constructed from six pieces of sponge rubber, each four feet by four feet. A giant's revolver came out of the carpenter's shop nine-feet long, and a pencil, six feet.

This switch on "Gulliver's Travels" can and will ring in some really off-beat story lines. The earthlings in one show are attacked by an enormous cat; they are captured and imprisoned in a giant dollhouse; they escape from one dangerous situation by using a ruler as a gang-plank. Captured in a giant's office, they are strapped down by strips of plastic mending tape and threatened with a paper clip.

Allen says the new ABC series, which will be a Sunday evening show, "is the most expensive filmed program in the history of television," with each hour costing in excess of $250,000.

"We prepared for 17 months before it went to the cameras," he explained. "There were all sorts of complications to be ironed out. How do you adjust the sound when you have the little people talking to the big people? How do you make furniture when the scale is 12 times larger than life?"

The series, 17 episodes of which are completed, "must be a big hit to survive," he said.

"It is so expensive that it has to attract the whole family," added the producer. "We know the kids will watch it and they will identify with the little people. Our job was to write stories that will attract the adults."

Who Goofed?

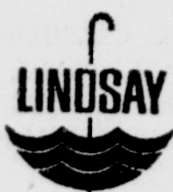

CHUCK DOUGHERTY

Engineer-trained, local Lindsay Soft Water dealer is "Answer Man" on soft water questions that puzzle people.

Q: My brother-in-law is constantly monkeying with the water softener to make it work right. Is this normal, or did he goof again?

A: He goofed by not getting an Automatic Lindsay. I know his isn't one because of the frequent "monkeying." The Lindsay produces oceans of soft water automatically, requires no fussing, no guessing on how to operate. Most adjustments are so simple your wife could make them. She's probably smarter than her brother, anyway.

Stoutsville Once Called 'Hogtown'

By JOHN C. PURCELL
Herald Staff Writer

First white settler in Clear Creek Twp. was Jacob Shumaker of Pennsylvania who cleared a farm near the present village of Stoutsville in 1797.

By 1820 Stoutsville had become a modest settlement. But it would be many years before the town would develop to any size large enough to support stores.

Supplies were purchased by local residents either by going to a store in Oakland, then far larger than Stoutsville, or taking the week-long trip to Zanesville.

Both trips were made exceptionally difficult, and most impossible during rainy seasons or winter, by the lack of any road or trail to Stoutsville.

IN 1854 Benjamin Stout laid out a plat of land near the original settlement and named it Stoutsville. Until that time the village had been called Hogtown taking its name from the large number of swine raised locally.

It wasn't until the coming of the rail that the village began to prosper. The railroad established a railhead at Stoutsville, making the small village a thriving commercial center.

New businesses sprung up in the town, the railroad provided new jobs, and a few local industries developed to take advantage of the new transportation system.

Hogs were driven great distances to the new railhead.

All the streets through town were lined with strong high fences to keep out the hogs, dust and smell of the animals.

First church in the area was established through the efforts of Jacob Leist. The building was constructed at Dutch Hollow.

LATER came the Heidelberg German Reform Church, the first church in Stoutsville. Following the Reform Church came the Lutherans and the Evangelical Church.

The Evangelical Church established the camp grounds at Stoutsville, but later sold the camp to the United Brethren. It was not until much later that the United Brethren and the Evangelical Churches merged nationally to form the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

By the end of the Civil War the village of Stoutsville had become one of the most wealthy small communities in the Midwest.

The village had two steam mills, three churches, a hotel, two stores, one department store and a grocery.

A large influx of farmers began after the civil war. The increase in children made it necessary to build a school and hire teachers.

The board of education was able to attract some of the best teachers from large cities because at this time the village was very rich and paid among the highest salaries in the state.

By 1888 the Fairfield-Pickaway News was established in the village. This weekly newspaper was considered one of the best in the Midwest.

The paper's editorials, written by H. O. Hardin, were considered of such excellent quality that members of one political party or the other would cut them out and put them on the wall of the state capital building.

THE hustle and bustle of a town at the railhead is gone today. The fine shops have closed and most of the town's old industries either went out of business with the passing of the railroad era or moved to neighboring cities where there was a larger supply of manpower.

By the end of World War I Stoutsville had become primarily a farming community. Until recently the village was declining in size as families moved out not to be replaced.

But today the trend of returning to rural areas to live and raise families has also struck this hamlet. Families are moving from the cities into the community to live while working in one of the neighboring towns.

The advent of high speed cars and the "bedroom" community has meant a new life for this village much like that brought last time by the coming of the rail.

Stoutsville today is continuing to grow and develop and recently became the newest incorporated village in the State of Ohio.

Thieves Hit Service Station; Residents Watch

Thieves struck the new Ashland Oil Co. service station being built in South Bloomfield recently stealing a new air compressor and tire changer valued at $800.

The two items, still crated and sitting on the curb where they had been delivered five weeks ago, were removed with the use of a truck during daylight hours Saturday.

Local residents, who stated that they saw a truck pull up and load the crates, told sheriff's deputies that they had made no effort to get the registration of the truck. Witnesses stated that so many trucks had been picking up and delivering things there, that they thought nothing about this one.

The two pieces were to have been installed in the service station.

The incident is still under investigation by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today weathered an anticipated early selloff in reaction to the news from Czechoslovakia and then began a strong comeback early in the afternoon.

Defense stocks were prominent in the recovery trend.

The ratio of losses to gains was cut from 3-to-1 at the start to less than 2 to 1 as the market came back in response to "bargain hunting" by individuals and institutions.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .88 at 889.55, having recovered from an initial decline of 3.29.

Trading was active, but not more than it usually is after a Wednesday closing when orders pile up.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 331.3 with industrials off 1.4, rails unchanged and utilities off 1.4.

Volume for the first two hours was 7.38 million shares, compared with 4.47 million Tuesday.

By JOHN C. PURCELL
Herald Staff Writer

First white settler in Clear Creek Twp. was Jacob Shumaker of Pennsylvania who cleared a farm near the present village of Stoutsville in 1797.

By 1820 Stoutsville had become a modest settlement. But it would be many years before the town would develop to any size large enough to support stores.

Supplies were purchased by local residents either by going to a store in Oakland, then far larger than Stoutsville, or taking the week-long trip to Zanesville.

Both trips were made exceptionally difficult, and most impossible during rainy seasons or winter, by the lack of any road or trail to Stoutsville.

IN 1834 Benjamin Stout laid out a plat of land near the original settlement and named it Stoutsville. Until that time the village had been called Hogtown taking its name from the large number of swine raised locally.

It wasn't until the coming of the rail that the village began to prosper. The railroad established a railhead at Stoutsville, making the small village a thriving commercial center.

New businesses sprung up in the town, the railroad provided new jobs, and a few local industries developed to take advantage of the new transportation system.

Hogs were driven great distances to the new railhead.

All the streets through town were lined with strong high fences to keep out the hogs, dust and smell of the animals.

First church in the area was established through the efforts of Jacob Leist. The building was constructed at Dutch Hollow.

LATER came the Heidelberg German Reform Church, the first church in Stoutsville. Following the Reform Church came the Lutherans and the Evangelical Church.

The Evangelical Church established the camp grounds at Stoutsville, but later sold the camp to the United Brethren. It was not until much later that the United Brethren and the Evangelical Churches merged nationally to form the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

By the end of the Civil War the village of Stoutsville had become one of the most wealthy small communities in the Midwest.

The village had two steam mills, three churches, a hotel, two stores, one department store and a grocery.

A large influx of farmers began after the civil war. The increase in children made it necessary to build a school and hire teachers.

The board of education was able to attract some of the best teachers from large cities because at this time the village was very rich and paid among the highest salaries in the state.

By 1888 the Fairfield-Pickaway News was established in the village. This weekly newspaper was considered one of the best in the Midwest.

The paper's editorials, written by H. O. Hardin, were considered of such excellent quality that members of one political party or the other would cut them out and put them on the wall of the state capital building.

THE hustle and bustle of a town at the railhead is gone today. The fine shops have closed and most of the town's old industries either went out of business with the passing of the railroad era or moved to neighboring cities where there was a larger supply of manpower.

By the end of World War I Stoutsville had become primarily a farming community. Until recently the village was declining in size as families moved out not to be replaced.

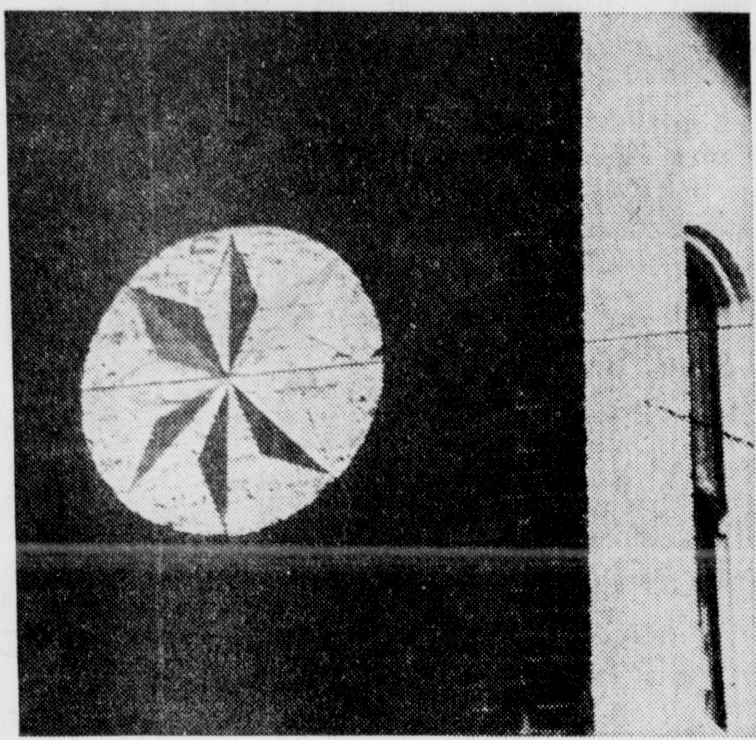

But today the trend of returning to rural areas to live and raise families has also struck this hamlet. Families are moving from the cities into the community to live while working in one of the neighboring towns.

The advent of high speed cars and the "bedroom" community has meant a new life for this village much like that brought last time by the coming of the rail.

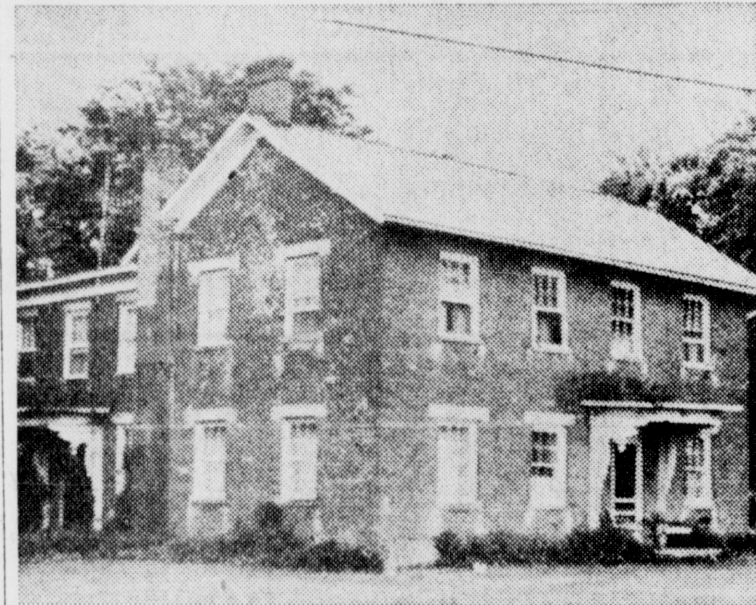

Stoutsville today is continuing to grow and develop and recently became the newest incorporated village in the State of Ohio.

Seven Fined $193

Seven out-of-county motorists forfeited bonds and fines totaling $193 in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday.

presidential nomination. It is almost as though the McCarthy forces were working from campaign manuals drawn up for the Republican presidential bid of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

There are differences, but there are more parallels, in the Chicago campaign for McCarthy and in the Miami Beach convention strategy by Rockefeller three weeks ago.

The Rockefeller effort, of course, failed. Richard M. Nixon, who went to the GOP convention the leader, emerged as the Republican presidential nominee.

The McCarthy camp openly acknowledges the similarity between its campaign and that waged by Rockefeller.

The heart of the strategy amounts to a challenge of the convention system itself, an argument that the party professionals who wield power in a convention hall are not really responsive to what the people want.

The remedy chosen by both candidates: a public campaign designed to convince the delegates that if they really want victory in November, they should turn away from the front-runners.

McCarthy's forces underscored the similarity with full-page newspaper advertisements which began:

"On Aug. 7, 1968, a good man was sandbagged in Miami. Nelson Rockefeller lost the Republican nomination to Dick Nixon and Co.

"On Aug. 26th in Chicago, Hubert Humphrey intends to make Miami's power politics look like the Amateur Hour. He fully intends, at the Democratic convention, to obliterate Gene McCarthy."

McCarthy himself has said that he can overtake Humphrey only if the delegates become convinced he is the only candidate who can win in November.

His camp acknowledges that delegates generally would be more comfortable with Humphrey than with the man who cracked the facade of Democratic unity with his primary election challenges to President Johnson.

Grant Continuance In Kroger Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Liquor Control Commission Wednesday granted the Kroger Co. an indefinite continuance of a hearing on the liquor department's refusal to grant new permits to some of the chain's stores.

The continuance was granted pending the outcome of an appeal by Kroger in Franklin County Court of Appeals to a court ruling that such games violate state lottery laws and liquor regulations.

Presume Four Men Dead after Blast

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man who was working at the Austin Powder Co.'s plant in Glenwillow to get some extra money and another who was planning to quit his job there next week were among the four missing following an explosion at the plant Wednesday.

David M. Gleason, president of the company, said the four are "almost certainly dead" and identified them as:

Clyde Cahill, 32; Edge Williams, 23, and Elba Frye, 27, all of Cleveland, and Warren Fuller, 22, of Hudson.

The four had been at work about an hour loading 25-pound kegs of powder onto a trailer for shipment to U.S. government arsenals when the explosion sent debris more than 100 yards in all directions.

Destroyed by the blast of 3,000 pounds of black powder was the 30-foot square wooden pack house they worked in.

Gleason said it probably will be some time before the cause of the explosion is determined.

Company officials still are investigating the cause of a fire at the plant which fatally burned two employees July 30. Cahill, who had worked at the plant off and on for five years, signed on again only three days ago.

"Every so often he'd get scared, being up there with all that stuff," said Hershell Johnson, his brother-in-law, and I guess he just wanted some extra money."

Williams' sister, Alice, said he had worked at the plant for two years, but got scared after the burning deaths of two co-workers three weeks ago and was planning to quit next week.

U.S. Reports 159 Soldiers Killed in Week

Enemy Losses For Same Period Listed at 1,393

SAIGON (AP) — American battle deaths last week numbered 159 killed, the second lowest figure this year, U.S. headquarters announced today.

The weekly casualty report reflected the lull in the war which was then in progress. The lull ended with heavy fighting last Sunday and the next casualty report is certain to be higher.

For the week ending Aug. 17, headquarters listed 1,393 enemy killed by allied forces.

American losses were 159 killed, 609 wounded and hospitalized and 575 wounded and treated in the field.

This brought the war's total U.S. death toll to 26,793 as opposed to 379,564 enemy killed.

The death toll was the lowest since mid-July when 157 Americans were killed at the beginning of the period marking the fall in combat activity. That was the lowest week this year and among the lowest in almost two years.

The figures listed 1,193 U.S. servicemen as missing or captured, a drop of 15 during the week due to missing Americans being reclassified from missing to dead.

The U.S. Command also gave an increased figure for the enemy dead in the previous weekly report which ended Aug. 10. The previous figure was 1,642 enemy killed but the command said reevaluation fixed enemy losses at 2,102 for the week.

The weekly report totaled 88,525 Americans wounded and hospitalized since the war began with another 79,627 wounded and treated in the field.

Bikini Power Movement Wins

HONOLULU (AP) — The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement—bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost their while diving.

Red Chinese Stir Trouble inside Poland

TOKYO (AP) — Red China distributed today a statement from what it called the real Communist party of Poland, a Peking-oriented group urging the armed overthrow of the Wladyslaw Gomulka Communist regime.

The statement described the Gomulka government as "the dictatorship of the traitorous bureaucracy, the dictatorship of the bourgeoisie, which can be overthrown only through revolutionary struggle."

The New China News Agency said the statement of the underground party, established in 1965, "exposes the Gomulka clique's betrayal of Marxism-Leninism and its restoration of capitalism in Poland."

The denunciation was ironic following the Soviet move against Czechoslovakia on grounds that its leadership had betrayed Communist aims. The Chinese so far have not commented on the Soviet move.

The west coast has fewer thunderstorms than any other area in the country — an average of less than five a year, according to the National Geographic Society.

Bikini Power Movement Wins

HONOLULU (AP) — The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement—bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost their while diving.

Little weather change is expected through Friday as hot and sultry conditions prevail. High temperatures this afternoon were expected to be in the 90s over most of the state. Wednesday, Cincinnati's downtown airport reported a high of 97.

A few scattered thundershowers were reported Wednesday evening over northern and eastern Ohio but rainfall amounts were generally light or only traces. A few thundershowers are possible again this afternoon but they will be widely scattered or isolated.

No change is seen in the weather pattern into Friday, as high pressure continues bringing southwesterly air flow into the Great Lakes area and the Ohio Valley.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Continued hot and humid through Friday with mostly clear or partly cloudy skies. Lows tonight 70-75.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO—Partly cloudy, continued warm tonight and Friday. Low tonight in the 70s.

Red Chinese Stir Trouble Inside Poland

TOKYO (AP) — Red China distributed today a statement from what it called the real Communist party of Poland, a Peking-oriented group urging the armed overthrow of the Wladyslaw Gomulka Communist regime.

The statement described the Gomulka government as "the dictatorship of the traitorous bureaucracy, the dictatorship of

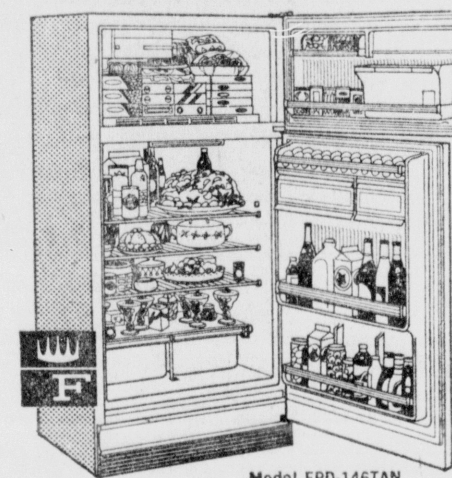

the bourgeoisie, which can be overthrown only through revolutionary struggle."

The denunciation was ironic following the Soviet move against Czechoslovakia on grounds that its leadership had betrayed Communism. The Chinese so far have not commented on the Soviet move.

The west coast has over thunderstorms than any other area in the country — an average of less than five a year, according to the National Geographic Society.

Mini-Building
HAPPY JACK, Ariz. (AP) — This northern Arizona lumbering community boasts what may be the smallest federal building in the nation — and probably the only "homemade" one in existence.

After fire destroyed the general store and post office in December 1966, residents pitched in and built a new 9-by-14-foot building to serve as a post office.

Fur for Men
JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South African furrier Leslie Derber plans to market fur coats "for masculine men."

"Selling the first 10 might be a bit of a battle," Derber said. "We have to overcome the taboo on men wearing fur, but after that it will snowball."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sign criticizing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey by California's Dissenting Democrats, Inc., won't be put up outside the Democratic National Convention in Chicago after all.

The Californians were given back their $1,260 by the billboard company in an out-of-court settlement Wednesday.

The group wanted to post a sign off Chicago's Dan Ryan Expressway saying, "Millions of Democrats don't want Humphrey. Who will elect him president? This message sponsored by Dissenting Democrats."

When Foster and Kleiser Corp., the billboard company, said it could not put up the sign because the space was taken up, the Dissenting Democrats brought suit for $125,000 damages in Los Angeles Superior Court.

The settlement was reached in the chambers of Superior Judge Robert W. Kenny.

NEW PATROL POST — The State Highway Patrol announced plans for a new post headquarters in Pickaway County. Completion of the building has been set for Feb. 1969. Above is an artist's conception.

New Patrol Headquarters To Be Constructed Here

Construction of a new building to house the Circleville Highway Patrol Post will begin soon, Patrol Superintendent Colonel Robert M. Chiaramonte said today.

The site of the new post is on the west side of U.S. 23, six miles north of Circleville in Pickaway County at a location known as Bunker Hill.

The new post will serve Pickaway County and southern Franklin County. It replaces the present rented quarters on South Court St. in Circleville.

The Circleville Post Commander is Sergeant J.W. Pribble. The Post is located in the Patrol's District 6 (a nine-county area in Central Ohio), commanded by Captain W. C. George at District Headquarters in Columbus.

THE post is being constructed as part of a continuing program to place all patrol facilities in state owned structures, according to Colonel Chiaramonte. The post is of the new one floor design with offices, a meeting room, equipment room, a locker room and an adjoining three-stall garage. An auxiliary power unit will be installed to operate during emergencies.

Personnel presently stationed at the Circleville Post includes: Corporals E. W. Wigglesworth, R. A. Schroer, C. D. Wolfinger, patrolmen D. J. Starcher, J. P. McCourt, P. J. Rank, V. M. Ralston, G. E. Anti-Humphrey Sign Squelched

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sign criticizing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey by California's Dissenting Democrats, Inc., won't be put up outside the Democratic National Convention in Chicago after all.

The Californians were given back their $1,260 by the billboard company in an out-of-court settlement Wednesday.

The group wanted to post a sign off Chicago's Dan Ryan Expressway saying, "Millions of Democrats don't want Humphrey. Who will elect him president? This message sponsored by Dissenting Democrats."

When Foster and Kleiser Corp., the billboard company, said it could not put up the sign because the space was taken up, the Dissenting Democrats brought suit for $125,000 damages in Los Angeles Superior Court.

The settlement was reached in the chambers of Superior Judge Robert W. Kenny.

2 Men Are Held In Bank Robbery

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Two men are being held on open charges by authorities after an estimated $12,000 robbery at a Boardman bank Wednesday.

The two armed men forced the bank manager of the New-Port branch of the People's bank into the vault, along with six employees and two customers.

About 5,000 of the money was recovered at a South Side Youngstown house where the men were picked up. Still being sought is a third man police believe drove the getaway car.

Downing Trims Yankees 2-1; Enters Mayo Clinic

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Downing hopes Minnesota's Mayo Clinic can do as much for his sleeping habits as Minnesota's Twins have done for his pitching groove.

The little New York left-hander, plagued by chronic arm trouble since spring training, stymied Minnesota hitters for 8 1/3 innings Wednesday night and earned only his second victory of the season as the Yankees edged the Twins 2-1.

Today Downing will re-enter the Mayo Clinic, where his pitching arm passed doctors' tests two days ago, for the examination of another problem—his mysterious inclination to "ward" instant daytime slumber.

Downing has trouble sleeping at night but can doze off at the drop of a hat in mid-day. The Mayo specialists have diagnosed his condition as narcolepsy, a controllable ailment remotely akin to sleeping sickness. They suspect there may be some relation between his sleeping pattern and arm miseries.

"They are going to give me sleeping pills before I go to bed at night and pills to keep me awake during the day," said the 27-year-old fastballer, who won 14 games for the Yankees last year. "They'll keep me for a day to see how I react. I hope they find the answer."

While Downing bolstered Yankee hopes for a first division finish, Detroit's American League leaders moved a step closer to their first pennant since 1945 by nipping Chicago 3-2 on Jim Price's pinch hit homer in the 10th inning.

Second-place Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings and remained seven games off the pace and Cleveland trimmed Boston 8-2 for Horacio Pina's first major league victory in the only other games scheduled.

Pirates Cream Reds, 19-1, Behind 23-Hit Barrage

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball's understatement of the year might go to Pittsburgh Manager Larry Shepard.

"There was no use pushing Steve (Blass), so I took him out in the ninth," Shepard said after the Pirates finished burying Cincinnati 19-1 Wednesday night. It was the worst beating the Reds have taken in several seasons.

The 26-year-old Blass allowed the bewildered Reds seven hits and one run during his eight innings.

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh pounded four Cincinnati pitchers for 23 hits.

Starter Jim Maloney went five innings for the Reds and took the loss.

Reds Manager Dave Bristol said: "That's enough to break your heart."

Japan Beats U.S.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Wakayama, Japan beat a team of U.S. airmen's children from Wiesbaden, Germany, 14-2 and Santa Anna, Calif., downed Hagerstown, Md., 3-0 in the opening round of the Little League World Series Wednesday.

Experience Is Key at Westfall

Westfall coach Dave Katterhenrick and his assistants Jeff Bigam and Jon Wilson have 29 candidates for the Mustang football squad.

Small in numbers, the quantity is blessed with good size and a wealth of experience among the starters. The Mustangs have veterans returning at almost every position, many of them with two or three years playing time under their belts.

The coaching staff is faced with the lack of depth, a perennial problem with most class A schools.

"If we don't have any serious injuries, I believe our offense will compare well with any class A school," says Wilson.

THE staff has been concentrating on offense in practice. There will be no basic changes in the Mustang attack this year, the coaches say.

Katterhenrick installed a short-punt formation and a T-attack at Westfall last year. The Mustangs got the ball airborne a lot last year, with just about every man in the backfield passing.

The backfield this year has John Furniss and Gene Carfrey playing halfbacks, Chris Schein running from the fullback slot and Greg Bigam at quarterback. All were regular starters last year.

Ronnie Parsons, a good strong runner, will spell Schein at the fullback slot. Rick Maurer is the backup quarterback.

Pat Whaley has been moved from guard to the backfield where he will fill in at halfback. Bruce Beatty, a freshman, could give added depth to the backfield toward the end of the season, the coaches believe. At right end, the Mustangs have back Tony Lightle, a 6-4 veteran pass catcher. The other end position will be filled by Jack Moore.

ALONG the interior line, the Mustangs have two of the biggest tackles in the league in Tim Dewey and Marlin Howard, a pair of 240-pound giants. Chuck Donahue will give depth at the position. He is a transfer student from Texas.

The guards are Bruce Sykes and Don Greenwood, both veterans. Rick Redman is back at center. Lewis Trapp, a transfer student from Miami Trace, is making a strong bid for a starting position at center.

Roger Peart, a linebacker and Tommy Hawker, an end, should also see plenty of action. Joe Rowland, who the coaches had been counting on this season, has sustained a serious knee injury and may be lost to the team for the season.

Other candidates are Mark Schein, a freshman; Mike Osment, Rick Riddle, Tommy Thompson, Steve Nevils, Terry Neff, Ronnie Greenwood, Tim McCoy, Sherann Herrick, Bob Willison, Bill Blue and Randy Long.

The Westfall coaching staff picks Unioto as the team to beat in the Scioto Valley Conference. They also feel that Paint Valley and Adena should be strong and aren't counting their own Mustangs out of the race by any means.

The junior high program at Westfall did not provide the team with as many grid prospects as had been hoped. There are only five freshmen out right now.

Westfall coaches feel the physical conditioning program paid big dividends this year. They were ready to start right in with the fundamentals and contact rather than spending the early practice sessions on physical fitness.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tiger Lily Lobell won Wednesday night's featured $1,300 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs to post her fifth straight win. WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Gomer, Ohio, was eliminated from the National Baseball Congress Tournament Wednesday with a 12-0 loss to Jackson, Miss. Jackson scored nine runs in the top of the fifth inning and the game was called after the inning because of the tourney's 10-run lead rule.

Top Golfers Open Phillie Golf Classic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Defending champion Dan Sikes, Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, top money-winner Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and other top professional golfers concentrated on golf instead of gab today in the opening round of the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

The bitter, vocal dispute between the golf pros and the Professional Golfers' Association over who should run the rich tour temporarily was shunted into the background as a field of 156 started the four-day, 72-hole competition over the par 36-36-72 Whitmarsh Valley Country Club course.

While Sikes, Nicklaus, Boros, Casper, Trevino and company were the favorites, many eyes were turned on young Bob Murphy, the Brooklyn native who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic.

He led the first three rounds only to lose when Boros dropped a 15-foot pressure putt on the final green.

A rookie on the tour, the 24-year-old Murphy indicated a liking for the 6,708-yard Whitmarsh course with a four-under par 68 in the pro-am tournament Wednesday.

The 1965 U.S. Amateur champion and 1966 NCAA king, Murphy had five birdies and only one bogey on a course which places a premium on keeping the ball in play.

Sikes, winner of two tournaments this year and with a bankroll already totalling $98,562, is shooting for his second straight $100,000-plus tour. His last-round charge at Whitmarsh to overtake George Archer a year ago made him a member of hundred-grand club in 1967. He won with rounds of 71-68-69-68-276.

All the 1968 tour champions with the exception of Arnold Palmer are in the starting field, which will be cut to the top 60 and ties after 36 holes.

44 Shooters Record 200s

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A record 44 shooters recorded perfect 200 scores Wednesday in the Clay Target Championship of North America event of the 66th annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament.

The resulting shootoff lasted until after midnight, with three men still shooting. Bueford Bailey of Big Springs, Neb.; Doug Bedwell, a 17-year-old from Brazil, Ind.; and Luigi Michelon, Rockford, Ill., will continue the shootoff after today's program.

Winners of shootoffs carried over from Monday and Tuesday Introductory singles and Class AA, both Jack Morris, San Antonio, Tex.

Today's action will feature the preliminary handicap, followed Friday by the Grand American Handicap, with a record, 3,500 shooters expected to participate.

Czech Invasion May Hurt Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The invasion of Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union and four of its allies caused new worries today for an already-upset committee organizing the Mexico Olympic Games.

The games, scheduled for Mexico City Oct. 12-27, have already had their share of international political problems. Now there is a threat some countries will be so upset by the Soviet action that they will refuse to compete against the Russians during the games.

New Orleans Saints Hope For Championship Already

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A large number of New Orleans Saints players are boldly talking about a divisional championship in the National Football League this winter—sheer audacity, perhaps even lunacy, for a second-year expansion team.

"I'm glad they feel that way," says Tom Fears, head coach of the Saints, who astonished the gridiron goldmining ranks a year ago.

"I have to be more realistic than optimistic though," adds Fears.

The Saints were switched to the NFL's Century Division this year—joining St. Louis, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

"We're in this to win the division. That's our aim. We would like to very much. So we'll be preparing with that thought in mind," Fears says. "But I'm not saying we're going to win our division."

A year together and the acquisition of four key players spell improvement for New Orleans. The quarter: Dave Parks, a split end who ranks with the best in the NFL; tight end Monty Stickles, a savage blocker; and pass defenders Ross Fichtner and Elbert Kimbrough.

The Saints won three games last fall, equalling the mark for any first-year team. At the same time the Saints averaged 77,000-plus per home game, fourth best in NFL history.

Bill Kilmer will quarterback the Saints—holding the key to much of the team's 1968 successes, or failures.

"We're all aware of the second-year lull, one which Atlanta experienced last season," admits Kilmer. "But one of our shortcomings, a strong offensive line, can't help but improve. And our defense is good."

Randy Schultz and Don McCall re-developing into proficient ballcarriers. Rookie fullback Tony Baker, a free agent, has promise of future greatness. So even if Jimmy Taylor doesn't come through the Saints expect to be able to gain more yardage on the ground.

Second-year man Danny Abramowicz, 721 yards on 50 catches with six touchdowns a year ago, has been moved from split end to flanker. With Parks, Stickles and Abramowicz—backed up by 9.4 John Gilliam—the Saints are in good shape for receivers.

The offensive interior line is still the weak spot, but appears somewhat better. Tackle Jerry Sturm is performing well and guard Del Williams, a second-year man, is coming fast.

The defense is built about safeties, Fichtner and Kimbrough, cornerback Whitsell, linebackers Bill Cody and Steve Stonebreaker and defensive end Doug Atkins.

Hayes Happy with OSU Gridders

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, an optimist by nature, really may have something to crow about as he prepares to embark on his 18th season as Ohio State football coach.

The dean of Big Ten coaches could hardly contain himself as he previewed his 1968 Buckeye edition Wednesday night at a press dinner.

"We've got more depth and speed and good football players than we've had for a long time," Hayes noted.

"We're green in spots and we will make some mistakes but one mistake will not be a lack of enthusiasm."

Does that mean that Ohio State can expect to capture its first conference championship since 1961 and make its first Rose Bowl trip in 11 years?

"The Big Ten race is going to be a dandy and we always expect to be in it. But Purdue should win without any question. The Boilermakers have more experience and fine football players than any other team in the conference."

The Purdue buildup may be plain fact but may also be professor Hayes' strategy in building the Boilermakers up for a letdown.

The two schools battle here Oct. 12, the Bucks' third game of the season, and the winner is likely to make the journey to California.

An estimated 84 aspiring Buckeye gridders will greet Hayes Friday, Aug. 30, for physicals and picture-taking. Practice opens the next day.

Hayes has a solid blend of veteran performers and the best freshman crop in his long tenure.

Super soph Rex Kern, the much-heralded quarterback, and a bevy of big, fast backs are prime reasons for Hayes' optimism.

Kern, who had a partially slipped disc that required surgery last June, is expected to be ready for the Sept. 28 opener against Southern Methodist.

"He has exceptional ability... a good runner and passer," Hayes said. But he cautioned not to write off Bill Long, the Bucks' top signal-caller the last two years.

The fullback post will be manned by juniors Paul Huff and Jim Otis while Dave Brungard, the Youngstown junior who led the 1967 Bucks in rushing, will open at left half.

Dayton's Leophus Hayden, "a big fellow with exceptional speed," is Brungard's relief. The right halfback berth likely will go to promising rookie John Brockington, a refugee from Brooklyn, N. Y. Larry Zelina of Cleveland, another sparkling soph who will be called upon to do the place-kicking, also will see action at right half.

John Muhlback returns at center while junior Tom Backus and Alan Jack hold down the guard spots.

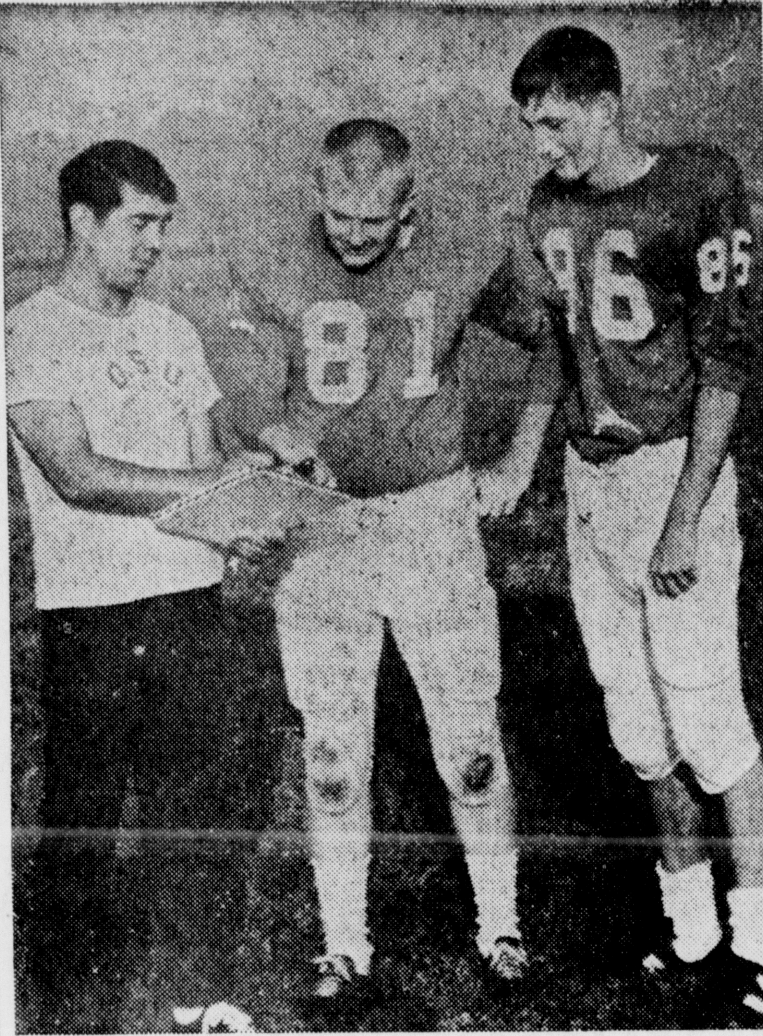

The defensive line is long on experience, particularly at end where Nick Roman and Dave Whitfield have control. Juniors Brad Nielson and Paul Schmidlin appear to have nailed down the tackle berths.

Mount Vernon's Jim Stillwagon is battling veteran Vic Stottleyer for the middle guard spot and seniors Dirk Worden and Mark Stier have the line-backer roles locked up.

Downing Trims Yankees 2-1; Enters Mayo Clinic

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Al Downing hopes Minnesota's Mayo Clinic can do as much for his sleeping habits as Minnesota's Twins have done for his pitching groove.

The little New York left-hander, plagued by chronic arm trouble since spring training, seemed Minnesota hitters for 8 1/2 innings Wednesday night and earned only his second victory of the season as the Yankees edged the Twins 2-1.

Today Downing will re-enter the Mayo Clinic, where his pitching arm passed doctors' tests two days ago, for the examination of another problem—his mysterious inclination toward instant daytime slumber.

Downing has trouble sleeping at night but can doze off at the drop of a hat in mid-day. The Mayo specialists have diagnosed his condition as narcolepsy, a controllable ailment remotely akin to sleeping sickness. They suspect there may be some relation between his sleeping pattern and arm miseries.

While Downing bolstered Yankee hopes for a first division finish, Detroit's American League leaders moved a step closer to their first pennant since 1945 by nipping Chicago 3-2 on Jim Price's pinch hit homer in the 10th inning.

Second-place Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings and remained seven games off the pace and Cleveland trimmed Boston 8-2 for Horacio Pina's first major league victory in the only other games scheduled.

Pirates Cream Reds, 19-1, Behind 23-Hit Barrage

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball's understatement of the year might go to Pittsburgh Manager Larry Shepard.

"There was no use pushing Steve (Blass), so I took him out in the ninth," Shepard said after the Pirates finished burying Cincinnati 19-1 Wednesday night. It was the worst beating the Reds have taken in several seasons.

The 26-year-old Blass allowed the bewildered Reds seven hits and one run during his eight innings.

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh pounded four Cincinnati pitchers for 23 hits.

Starter Jim Maloney went five innings for the Reds and took the loss.

Reds Manager Dave Bristol said: "That's enough to break your heart."

Pittsburgh's hitting hasn't been what some expected, but Shepard discounted it Wednesday night:

"They were hitting like I expected them to hit all year, but not quite that hard."

Donn Clendenen led the Pirates assault with five runs batted in with his 15th homer and a double.

Roberto Clemente, who has been off form most of the season and was out of the lineup for eight straight games before Wednesday night, hit two solo homers and a single.

Fred Whitfield drove in Cincinnati's only run in the fourth when he doubled behind Alex Johnson, on with a single.

Japan Beats U.S.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Wakayama, Japan beat a team of U.S. airmen's children from Wiesbaden, Germany, 14-2 and Santa Anna, Calif., downed Hagerstown, Md., 3-0 in the opening round of the Little League World Series Wednesday.

THE VIEW IS BREATHLESS—Something like that as Olympic runner Bob Williams is the subject of a test on breathing at the high altitude training site for U.S. members at South Lake Tahoe, Calif. The test is one made daily to check the athletes' adjustments to the 7,377-foot altitude of Mexico City, scene of the Olympic Games in October.

Experience Is Key at Westfall

Westfall coach Dave Katterhenrick and his assistants Jeff Bigam and Jon Wilson have 29 candidates for the Mustang football squad.

Small in numbers, the quantity is blessed with good size and a wealth of experience among the starters. The Mustangs have veterans returning at almost every position, many of them with two or three years playing time under their belts.

The coaching staff is faced with the lack of depth, a perennial problem with most class A schools.

"If we don't have any serious injuries, I believe our offense will compare well with any class A school," says Wilson.

THE staff has been concentrating on offense in practice. There will be no basic changes in the Mustang attack this year, the coaches say.

Katterhenrick installed a short-punt formation and a T-attack at Westfall last year. The Mustangs got the ball airborne a lot last year, with just about every man in the backfield passing.

The backfield this year has John Furniss and Gene Carfrey playing halfbacks, Chris Schein running from the fullback slot and Greg Bigam at quarterback. All were regular starters last year.

Ronnie Parsons, a good strong runner, will spell Schein at the fullback slot. Rick Maurer is the backup quarterback.

Pat Whaley has been moved from guard to the backfield where he will fill in at halfback. Bruce Beatty, a freshman, could give added depth to the backfield toward the end of the season, the coaches believe.

At right end, the Mustangs have back Tony Lightle, a 6-4 veteran pass catcher. The other end position will be filled by Jack Moore.

ALONG the interior line, the Mustangs have two of the biggest tackles in the league in Tim Dewey and Marlin Howard, a pair of 240-pound giants. Chuck Donahue will give depth at the position. He is a transfer student from Texas.

The guards are Bruce Sykes and Don Greenwood, both veterans. Rick Redman is back at center. Lewis Trapp, a transfer student from Miami Trace, is making a strong bid for a starting position at center.

Roger Peart, a linebacker and Tommy Hawker, an end, should also see plenty of action. Joe Rowland, who the coaches had been counting on this season, has sustained a serious knee injury and may be lost to the team for the season.

Other candidates are Mark Schein, a freshman; Mike Osment, Rick Riddle, Tommy Thompson, Steve Nevils, Terry Neff, Ronnie Greenwood, Tim McCoy, Sherann Herrick, Bob Willison, Bill Blue and Randy Long.

The Westfall coaching staff picks Unioto as the team to beat in the Scioto Valley Conference. They also feel that Paint Valley and Adena should be strong and aren't counting their own Mustangs out of the race by any means.

The junior high program at Westfall did not provide the team with as many good prospects as had been hoped. There are only five freshmen out right now.

Westfall coaches feel the physical conditioning program paid dividends this year. They were ready to start right in with the fundamentals and contact rather than spending the early practice sessions on physical fitness.

Tiger Lily Lobell Wins Scioto Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tiger Lily Lobell won Wednesday night's featured $1,300 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs to post her fifth straight win. The 2-year-old filly paced the last half mile in one minute flat to defeat Meadow DA by two lengths and return $280. $2.20 and $2.20. Meadow DA paid $280 and $2.80, while Speedy Chief returned $4 to show. The winning time was 2:03 3/5.

Twelve ticket holders picked up Scioto's all-time record quinella of $878.40 when Rendezvous Gold (6-1) and Cindy G. (50-1) finished 1-2. The daily double of Irv's Boy and Eppa Girl 9-1 paid $39.20.

Columbus Team Wins at Softball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Harley Davidson won the State Fast Pitch Softball Tournament here Wednesday night by blanking Findlay Fern Cafe 6-0. Findlay handed the Columbus team its first defeat in the double elimination tournament earlier Wednesday, edging Harley 2-1.

Gomer Eliminated

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Gomer, Ohio, was eliminated from the National Baseball Congress Tournament Wednesday with a 12-0 loss to Jackson, Miss. Jackson scored nine runs in the top of the fifth inning and the game was called after the inning because of the tourney's 10-run lead rule.

Top Golfers Open Phillie Golf Classic

The bitter, vocal dispute between the golf pros and the Professional Golfers' Association over who should run the rich tour temporarily was shunted into the background as a field of 156 started the four-day, 72-hole competition over the par 36-hole-72 Whitmarsh Valley Country Club course.

While Sikes, Nicklaus, Boros, Casper, Trevino and company were the favorites, many eyes were turned on young Bob Murphy, the Brooklyn native who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic. He led the first three rounds only to lose when Boros dropped a 15-foot pressure putt on the final green.

A rookie on the tour, the 24-year-old Murphy indicated a liking for the 6708-yard Whitmarsh course with a four-under-par 68 in the pro-am tournament Wednesday.

The 1965 U.S. Amateur champion and 1966 NCAA king, Murphy had five birdies and only one bogey on a course which places a premium on keeping the ball in play.

Sikes, winner of two tournaments this year and with a bankroll already totalling $98,562, is shooting for his second straight $100,000-plus tour. His last-round charge at Whitmarsh to overtake George Archer a year ago made him a member of hundred-grand club in 1967. He won with rounds of 71-68-69-68—276.

All the 1968 tour champions with the exception of Arnold Palmer are in the starting field, which will be cut to the top 60 and ties after 36 holes.

44 Shooters Record 200s

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A record 44 shooters recorded perfect 200 scores Wednesday in the Clay Target Championship of North America event of the 69th annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament.

The resulting shootoff lasted until after midnight, with three men still shooting. Buford Bailey of Big Springs, Neb.; Doug Bedwell, a 17-year-old from Brazil, Ind.; and Luigi Michelon, Rockford, Ill., will continue the shootoff after today's program.

Winners of shootoffs carried over from Monday and Tuesday Introductory singles and Class AA, both Jack Morris, San Antonio, Tex.

Today's action will feature the preliminary handicap, followed Friday by the Grand American Handicap, with a record, 3,500 shooters expected to participate.

Czech Invasion May Hurt Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The invasion of Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union and four of its allies caused new worries today for an already-upset committee organizing the Mexico Olympic Games.

The games, scheduled for Mexico City Oct. 12-27, have already had their share of international political problems. Now there is a threat some countries will be so upset by the Soviet action that they will refuse to compete against the Russians during the games.

New Orleans Saints Hope For Championship Already

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A large number of New Orleans Saints players are boldly talking about a divisional championship in the National Football League this winter—sheer audacity, perhaps even lunacy, for a second-year expansion team.

"I'm glad they feel that way," says Tom Fears, head coach of the Saints, who astonished the gridiron goldmining ranks a year ago.

"I have to be more realistic than optimistic though," adds Fears.

The Saints were switched to the NFL's Century Division this year—joining St. Louis, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

"We're in this to win the division. That's our aim. We would like to win it. But I'm not saying we're going to win our division."

A year together and the acquisition of four key players spell improvement for New Orleans.

The quarter: Dave Parks, a split end who ranks with the best in the NFL; tight end Monty Stickles, a savage blocker; and pass defenders Ross Fichtner and Elbert Kimbrough.

The Saints won three games last fall, equalling the mark for any first-year team. At the same time the Saints averaged 77,000-plus per home game, fourth best in NFL history.

Bill Kilmer will quarterback the Saints—holding the key to much of the team's 1968 successes, or failures.

"We're all aware of the second-year lull, one which Atlanta experienced last season," admits Kilmer. "But one of our shortcomings, a strong offensive line, can't help but improve. And our defense is good."

Randy Schultz and Don McCall re-developing into proficient ballcarriers. Rookie fullback Tony Baker, a free agent, has promise of future greatness. So even if Jimmy Taylor doesn't come through the Saints expect to be able to gain more yardage on the ground.

Second-year man Danny Abramowicz, 721 yards on 50 catches with six touchdowns a year ago, has been moved from split end to flanker. With Parks, Stickles and Abramowicz—backed up by 9.4 John Gilliam—the Saints are in good shape for receivers.

The offensive interior line is still the weak spot, but appears somewhat better. Tackle Jerry Sturm is performing well and guard Del Williams, a second-year man, is coming fast.

The defense is built about safeties, Fichtner and Kimbrough, cornerback Whitsell, linebackers Bill Cody and Steve Stonebreaker and defensive end Doug Atkins.

Hayes Happy with OSU Gridders

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, an optimist by nature, really may have something to crow about as he prepares to embark on his 18th season as Ohio State football coach.

The dean of Big Ten coaches could hardly contain himself as he previewed his 1968 Buckeye edition Wednesday night at a press dinner.

"We've got more depth and speed and good football players than we've had for a long time," Hayes noted.

"We're green in spots and we will make some mistakes but one mistake will not be a lack of enthusiasm."

Does that mean that Ohio State can expect to capture its first conference championship since 1961 and make its first Rose Bowl trip in 11 years?

"The Big Ten race is going to be a dandy and we always expect to be in it. But Purdue should win without any question. The Boilermakers have more experience and fine football players than any other team in the conference."

The Purdue buildup may be plain fact but may also be professor Hayes' strategy in building the Boilermakers up for a letdown.

The two schools battle here Oct. 12, the Bucks' third game of the season, and the winner is likely to make the journey to California.

An estimated 84 aspiring Buckeye gridders will greet Hayes Friday, Aug. 30, for physicals and picture-taking. Practice opens the next day.

Hayes has a solid blend of veteran performers and the best freshman crop in his long tenure.

Super soph Rex Kern, the much-heralded quarterback, and a bevy of big, fast backs are prime reasons for Hayes' optimism.

Kern, who had a partially slipped disc that required surgery last June, is expected to be ready for the Sept. 28 opener against Southern Methodist.

"He has exceptional ability... a good runner and passer," Hayes said. But he cautioned not to write off Bill Long, the Bucks' top signal-caller the last two years.

The fullback post will be manned by juniors Paul Huff and Jim Otis while Dave Brungard, the Youngstown junior who led the 1967 Bucks in rushing, will open at left half.

Dayton's Leophus Hayden, "a big fellow with exceptional speed," is Brungard's relief. The right halfback berth likely will go to promising rookie John Brockington, a refugee from Brooklyn, N. Y. Larry Zelina of Cleveland, another sparkling soph who will be called upon to do the place-kicking, also will see action at right half.

Two fine tackles, seniors Dave Foley and Rufus Mayes, a converted end, anchor the offensive line. Hayes will have to go with sophs at the end positions. Jan White and Bruce Jankowski are the leading candidates.

John Muhlback returns at center while junior Tom Backhaus and Alan Jack hold down the guard spots.

The defensive line is long on experience, particularly at end where Nick Roman and Dave Whitfield have control. Juniors Brad Nielson and Paul Schmidlin appear to have nailed down the tackle berths.

Mount Vernon's Jim Stillwagon is battling veteran Vic Stottleyer for the middle guard spot and seniors Dirk Worden and Mark Stier have the line-backer roles locked up.

Scioto Downs Slates 30-Race Weekend Series

Scioto Downs has scheduled what could be the biggest three nights in the track's ten year history tonight, Friday and Saturday nights.

Ten races will be carded each evening, and the big weekend gets started off tonight with the presentation of the fifth annual edition of the Scarlet and Gray Cup Series for 3-year-old pacers.

Thirteen speed-minded sophomores will answer the call to the post to vie for the winners share of the $8,500 purse. The rugged pacing duel figures to be a wide open race from start to finish. The early favorite role is up for grabs between any one of eight of the thirteen starters.

Such 3-year-old pacing greats as Batman from the Bruce Nickells stable with a mile mark of 2:00 4-5, and Beau Butler, the sensational son of Adios Butler who trainer-driver J. D. Dennis says can pace right around two minutes anytime he steps on a race track. Majestic Peter, the blazing son of Majestic Hanover who Dick Hackett guided to victory in 2:01 3-5, and Hielo, owned by the C & M Stable of Archbold, that gave driver George Sholly four wins in eight starts this year and a half mile track mark of 2:04 2-5. Bob Farrington, the nation's leading race winning driver for the past six years will have Sun Shadow, and George Ursitti will drive Suits from the Mac Jay stables of Portsmouth.

Wendell Kirk, the veteran Washington C. H. reinsman currently enjoying his finest year, will have a three horse entry headed by the brilliant Adios Waverly. Owned by Bob and Harry Valley of Waverly, this bristling bay son of Adios Butler, took a new record of 2:01 last Saturday night at Scioto Downs. The other starters in the Kirk stable entry are Bye Bye Surprise to be driven by Lloyd Dillon with a mark of 2:03 3-5, and Spicy Dream with Bill Herman up has a record of 2:03 1-5.

Donnie C. Miller, the veteran sulky master who helped in the development of the great Bret Hanover, has a two horse entry in Direct Sammy and Duane Victoire. Both sizzling sophomores have records of 2:01 taken at Vernon Downs.

The 3-year-old trotting division of the Scarlet and Gray Cup, scheduled for Friday night, attracted seven starters that will race for a purse of $7,125. Scheduled as the fourth race on the ten race card, the Scarlet and Gray Cup trot becomes one of the features on a night for standout trotting events at Scioto.

The $5,500 Invitational Trot events on Friday night at Scioto Downs have proved to be one of the top trotting events in the country. In a period when fast class trotters are at a premium at every track in the sport, Scioto has had an abundance of the speedy lateral gaiters.

Fayette Area Gridders Are Practicing

WASHINGTON C. H. —

A total of 45 boys appeared for opening football practice at Miami Trace High School and 42 at Washington High School.

The Panthers, in their third year under head coach John Beckley, are small in size but in good physical condition.

Of the 45 players, 17 are returning lettermen and 15 are seniors. The Panthers last year had a 4-5-1 record.

Panther backs Roger Spahr and Bev Lee have been impressive in opening workouts. Coach John Beckley has been stressing fundamental football in the sessions.

Three players have been sidelined because of injury. However, the hurts have not been serious.

Progress has been normal for the Washington Blue Lions, although the heat and the flu bug have hindered things a bit so far.

Eighteen lettermen return, including 12 seniors, to the Blue Lion grid camp.

Washington had a 5-4-1 record last year. Like Miami Trace, Coach Maurice Pfeiffer has been concentrating on fundamentals.

The coaching staff has been impressed by the passing of Ed Heath and the receiving of Stanley Brown in the early workouts.

"Everyone's hustling all the time and the team spirit is great," said Pfeiffer.

Hoskins Hurls All-Stars Past Jackson '9', 5-1

Perry Hoskins pitched Circleville Little League Major All-Stars past Jackson, 5-1, in the Scioto Valley Conference Tournament Wednesday in Chillicothe.

Hoskins hurled the whole game, fanning 11, walking just one and allowing nine hits. The locals opened the game with four runs and added another in the fifth inning. Jackson scored in the fifth.

John Ankrom and Randy Thomas doubled for the All-Stars. Next game is tonight at 7:45 p.m. in Chillicothe against either Clay Twp. or River Royal.

National League Batters Pound Out 143 Hits

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths looked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and

New York Mets 13-3.

sault at night with a 19-1 wallop-ing of Cincinnati. In between,

St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-

3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high

were the Pirates 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley

both collected four hits and

Manny Mota, Roberto Clemente

and Bill Mazeroski three apiece for the Pirates.

Donn Clendenon accounted for five Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a double,

Alley drove in three and Alou,

Jose Pagan, Mota, Mazeroski

and Clemente two each. Clemente hit solo homers his first

Billy Williams drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the Cubs' first-game victory and then sent home seven more in

and a double.

However, Ernie Banks was the big blaster for the Cubs in the opener. The 37-year-old veteran hit a bases-empty homer, his 24th, in the first inning, and then with the Cubs trailing 4-2, climaxed a three-run seventh with a two-run blast.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Willie Mays highlighted a sixrun San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his career, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarpaulins were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted.

continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb

Phil Gagliano and Tim Mc-

Carver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-

3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair in the fifth.

However, it was doubtful that

for the Packers' game at Dallas

Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the Bears' defensive tackle, John Johnson, who received the game ball after

Chicago's stunner, will be lost for at least two months because of a small bone fracture.

Johnson apparently played part of the game with the Packers with the fracture but it wasn't discovered until two days later.

free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

snares 478 passes for 8,015

yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among all-time AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami

Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the

Such 3-year-old pacing greats as Batman from the Bruce Nickells stable with a mile mark of 2:00 4-5, and Beau Butler, the sensational son of Adios Butler who trainer-driver J. D. Dennis says can pace right around two minutes anytime he steps on a race track. Majestic Peter, the blazing son of Majestic Hanover who Dick Hackett guided to victory in 2:01 3-5, and Hielo, owned by the C & M Stable of Archbold, that gave driver George Sholly four wins in eight starts this year and a half mile track mark of 2:04 2-5. Bob Farrington, the nation's leading race winning driver for the past six years will have Sun Shadow, and George Ursitti will drive Suits from the Mac Jay stables of Portsmouth.

Wendell Kirk, the veteran Washington C. H. reinsman currently enjoying his finest year, will have a three horse entry headed by the brilliant Adios Waverly. Owned by Bob and Harry Valley of Waverly, this brilliant bay son of Adios Butler, took a new record of 2:01 last Saturday night at Scioto Downs. The other starters in the Kirk stable entry are Bye Bye Surprise to be driven by Lloyd Dillon with a mark of 2:03 3-5, and Spicy Dream with Bill Herman up has a record of 2:03 1-5.

Donnie C. Miller, the veteran sulky master who helped in the development of the great Bret Hanover, has a two horse entry in Direct Sammy and Duane Victoire. Both sizzling sophomores have records of 2:01 taken at Vernon Downs.

The 3-year-old trotting division of the Scarlet and Gray Cup, scheduled for Friday night, attracted seven starters that will race for a purse of $7,125. Scheduled as the fourth race on the ten race card, the Scarlet and Gray Cup trot becomes one of the features on a night for standout trotting events at Scioto.

The $5,000 Invitational Trot events on Friday night at Scioto Downs have proved to be one of the top trotting events in the country. In a period when fast class trotters are at a premium at every track in the sport, Scioto has had an abundance of the speedy lateral gaiters.

Favette Area Gridders Are Practicing

WASHINGTON C. H. — A total of 45 boys appeared for opening football practice at Miami Trace High School and 42 at Washington High School.

The Panthers, in their third year under head coach John Beckley, are small in size but in good physical condition.

Of the 45 players, 17 are returning lettermen and 15 are seniors. The Panthers last year had a 4-5-1 record.

Panther backs Roger Spahr and Bev Lee have been impressive in opening workouts. Coach John Beckley has been stressing fundamental football in the sessions.

Three players have been sidelined because of injury. However, the hurts have not been serious.

Progress has been normal for the Washington Blue Lions, although the heat and the flu bug have hindered things a bit so far.

Eighteen lettermen return, including 12 seniors, to the Blue Lion grid camp.

Washington had a 5-4-1 record last year. Like Miami Trace, Coach Maurice Pfeiffer has been concentrating on fundamentals.

The coaching staff has been impressed by the passing of Ed Heath and the receiving of Stanley Brown in the early workouts.

"Everyone's hustling all the time and the team spirit is great," said Pfeiffer.

Hoskins Hurls All-Stars Past

Jackson '9, 5-1

Perry Hoskins pitched Circleville Little League Major All-Stars past Jackson, 5-1, in the Scioto Valley Conference Tournament Wednesday in Chillicothe.

Hoskins hurled the whole game, fanning 11, walking just one and allowing nine hits. The locals opened the game with four runs and added another in the fifth inning. Jackson scored in the fifth.

John Ankrom and Randy Thomas doubled for the All-Stars. Next game is tonight at 7:45 p.m. in Chillicothe against either Clay Twp. or River Royal.

National League Batters Pound Out 143 Hits

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths looked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banded out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 walloping of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for the majors this season. So were the Pirates' 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazaroski three apiece for the Pirates.

Donn Clendenon accounted for five Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a double, Alley drove in three and Alou, Jose Pagan, Mota, Mazaroski and Clemente two each. Clemente hit solo homers his first two at-bats. Billy Williams drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the Cubs' first-game victory and then sent home seven more in the nightcap with a two-run homer, a single, sacrifice fly and a double.

However, Ernie Banks was the big blaster for the Cubs in the opener. The 37-year-old veteran hit a bases-empty homer, his 24th, in the first inning, and then with the Cubs trailing 4-2, climaxed a three-run seventh with a two-run blast.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Willie Mays highlighted a six-run San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his career, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarpaulin were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair in the fifth.

Art Powell Eyes Comeback At 31 with Minnesota Squad

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with the Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among all-time AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston—one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa Okla.

In other developments around the training camps, Pittsburgh signed holdout Frank Parker, a defensive tackle. Parker was obtained in a four-man trade with Cleveland but refused to report to the Steelers' camp because, he said, he wasn't offered enough money.

The Boston Patriots placed four players on waivers, including veteran split end Jerry Lamb, who spent three years with Kansas City before being signed by the Pats as a free agent, and rookie linebacker Burl Wood of West Texas State.

Defensive tackle Henry Jordan practiced for the first time since he was injured in the College All-Star Game as the Green Bay Packers worked out for the first time since Monday night's loss to Chicago—second straight exhibition loss for the world champs.

Castro Gets Goods Despite U.S.

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
HAVANA (AP) — How effective is the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba in terms of dollars and cents?

Prime Minister Fidel Castro says it is damaging and has cost his country "hundreds of millions of pesos" because of transportation charges and buying under difficult conditions. At the official exchange rate of $1 per peso this means hundreds of millions of dollars.

At the same time the Cuban leader manages to bring hundreds of millions of dollars worth of products to this island every year. Last year his trade with Western countries amounted to about $320 million, or between 20-25 per cent of all Cuba's foreign trade.

Only a shortage of hard currency due to a drought-wracked sugar crop is slowing him down this year. Sugar normally earns four-fifths of Cuba's foreign exchange, and the shelves bare of meat, tobacco, fruit and coffee this year indicate the government is sending as many of these products abroad as it can to take up the sugar slack.

Of the Communist bloc, Russia is far and away the biggest trading partner at about $930 million annually. Soviet trade with Cuba continues at a deficit—more exports than imports. This accounts in part for the $1 million a day in nonmilitary aid Moscow is reported to send to this island.

For some time anti-Communist Spain has been out-trading such Communist nations as East Germany, Bulgaria, North Korea, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Yugoslavia and, at times, Czechoslovakia. Spanish trade often has approached that of Cuba's No. 2 trader, Red China.

The West's new leader this past year was France, which more than tripled its trade of 1966 and is doing almost nine times the business it did here in the 10 years before Castro came to power.

Figures available here show this lineup for the major Western traders in 1967 in millions of dollars: France 70, Spain 65.6, Canada 48.6, Britain 36.6, Japan 33.5, Italy 24.7, Holland 15, West Germany 9.2, Sweden 6.2, Switzerland 5.6, Belgium 2.8 and Denmark 1.

The figures indicate Castro can buy and bring through the blockade most of the things he needs if he has the hard currency to pay for it.

There has been evidence lately that he also can do it on credit. Romania is giving Cuba $30 million worth of oil drilling equipment on eight years' credit. East Germany has agreed to supply $25 million worth of heavy construction and hydraulic equipment, also on credit. Near Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast a big fertilizer plant supplied by Simon Carves, Ltd., of Britain is going up. The plant's price is $44 million, backed by a guarantee of the British government. Cuba has five years to pay for this.

Against this background, there are no outward signs here that Castro is interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States, even if an offer came from Washington. "Castro is really hung up on Vietnam," says one who has heard the prime minister's recent views on the United States.

"He believes the Vietnamese are fighting a battle for all the oppressed people of the world. As such, he feels closely allied to them. The fact the enemy is the United States makes his position even more firm."

Something To Think About . . .
Do We Care?

By JEAN CRIST

Last week I was privileged to attend a discussion group in which several adults and a seventeen-year-old girl talked about the problems that exist between the younger people of today and those "old fogies" over 30 years of age.

It was a lively and informative discussion which served to increase the communication of this group with the younger people and their ideas. Several interesting points were brought up, but there was one in particular that I would like to respond to today. When asked to tell us some of the things that the young people felt were wrong with the attitudes of the older generation, she stated that they feel that the older generation doesn't care about other people and what happens to them, that they are more interested in making money and establishing prestige for themselves.

After I went home this accusation stayed with me and I wondered if they were right. Looking at the situation on a local level, I questioned if the people of Circleville were unaware of the needs of those less fortunate than themselves and really didn't care what happened to them. I set out to find an answer to this question. These are some of the things I discovered about Circleville and its people.

The great majority of people living in Circleville, are fulfilling the primary obligation of their community which is to be responsible for themselves and those legally within their care. This is the initial evidence of caring for other people, that you assume individual responsibility for not being a burden on society if it is within your power to do so.

There are 25 churches located in the city of Circleville which has a population of approximately 12,200 people. This would make available a church for every 400 persons. There are several hundred persons who are active members of these churches and many who live in Circleville who are members of rural churches. To me this church membership is an evidence of caring for those who attend and give financial support to the churches are making sure that the church program is available to anyone who desires to avail themselves of the privilege of attending. They are, to the best of their individual abilities, following the leadership of One who cared deeply for us all. In addition to the worship program of the churches there are numerous groups and organizations which exist to support the church and to serve others in various ways. Many of those who are members of the city's service organizations derive their inspiration from the church.

Circleville has 200 organizations, most of which are basically service organizations, and others, although existing for another reason have a service aspect through which they fill some of the needs of the community.

The services these organizations give are too many and varied to list here but they are needed services, given freely, along with many man hours of work and effort expended by the members of these organizations. Among other things they give health care and financial assistance to the indigent families of our community, they support the schools and the hospital and they encourage community spirit and cooperation.

Antismoking Law
Urged by Mayor

BUTLER, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Clayton D. Brown asked the Borough Council Tuesday to pass a law making it illegal for a resident under 18 to smoke.

"It is incumbent upon us as parents and adult members of society to protect our youth from developing dangerous health habits as a result of influence or irrational judgment," he said.

The mayor's proposal, which the council will vote on in September, met resistance from Councilman Robert Predmore.

MINI-SKIRTED NUN—Sister Jere Pekas of the Roman Catholic Sisters of Notre Dame pauses during a stroll on the University of Colorado campus at Boulder, where she is taking graduate work. Before September she must give up her mini-skirt and return to habit (inset) and convent in Minnesota.

Ohio Said Ripe
For Encephalitis

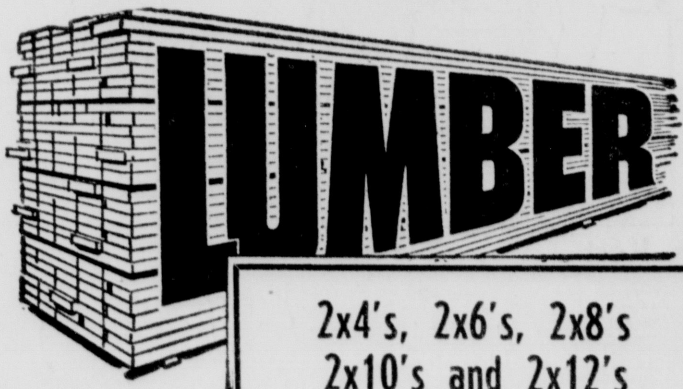

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A researcher at the Ohio Department of Health's communicable diseases section said Tuesday that conditions are ripe in this state for an outbreak of California encephalitis.

Dr. Ralph A. Masterson said that the infectious disease, a kind of sleeping sickness, is the result of mosquito bites. The spring flooding this year and continuing heavy rainfall has led to an increase in the numbers of these insects.

The world's oceans, ice fields, lakes, rivers, soils, rocks and atmosphere hold about 326 million cubic miles of water. Man draws upon less than one per cent of this supply.

Castro Gets Goods Despite U.S.

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
HAVANA (AP) — How effective is the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba in terms of dollars and cents?

Prime Minister Fidel Castro says it is damaging and has cost his country "hundreds of millions of pesos" because of transportation charges and buying under difficult conditions. At the official exchange rate of $1 per peso this means hundreds of millions of dollars.

At the same time the Cuban leader manages to bring hundreds of millions of dollars worth of products to this island every year. Last year his trade with Western countries amounted to about $320 million, or between 20-25 per cent of all Cuba's foreign trade.

Only a shortage of hard currency due to a drought-wracked sugar crop is slowing him down this year. Sugar normally earns four-fifths of Cuba's foreign exchange, and the shelves bare of meat, tobacco, fruit and coffee this year indicate the government is sending as many of these products abroad as it can to take up the sugar slack.

Of the Communist bloc, Russia is far and away the biggest trading partner at about $930 million annually. Soviet trade with Cuba continues at a deficit—more exports than imports. This accounts in part for the $1 million a day in nonmilitary aid Moscow is reported to send to this island.

For some time anti-Communist Spain has been out-trading such Communist nations as East Germany, Bulgaria, North Korea, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Yugoslavia and, at times, Czechoslovakia. Spanish trade often has approached that of Cuba's No. 2 trader, Red China.

The West's new leader this past year was France, which more than tripled its trade of 1966 and is doing almost nine times the business it did here in the 10 years before Castro came to power.

Figures available here show this lineup for the major Western traders in 1967 in millions of dollars: France 70, Spain 65.6, Canada 48.6, Britain 36.6, Japan 33.5, Italy 24.7, Holland 15, West Germany 9.2, Sweden 6.2, Switzerland 5.6, Belgium 2.8 and Denmark 1.

The figures indicate Castro can buy and bring through the blockade most of the things he needs if he has the hard currency to pay for it.

There has been evidence lately that he also can do it on credit. Romania is giving Cuba $30 million worth of oil drilling equipment on eight years' credit. East Germany has agreed to supply $25 million worth of heavy construction and hydraulic equipment, also on credit. Near Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast a big fertilizer plant supplied by Simon Carves, Ltd., of Britain is going up. The plant's price is $44 million, backed by a guarantee of the British government. Cuba has five years to pay for this.

Against this background, there are no outward signs here that Castro is interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States, even if an offer came from Washington.

"Castro is really hung up on Vietnam," says one who has heard the prime minister's recent views on the United States.

"He believes the Vietnamese are fighting a battle for all the oppressed people of the world. As such, he feels closely allied to them. The fact the enemy is the United States makes his position even more firm."

Something To Think About . . . Do We Care?

By JEAN CRIST

Last week I was privileged to attend a discussion group in which several adults and a seventeen-year-old girl talked about the problems that exist between the younger people of today and those "old foggies" over 30 years of age.

It was a lively and informative discussion which served to increase the communication of this group with the younger people and their ideas. Several interesting points were brought up, but there was one in particular that I would like to respond to today. When asked to tell us some of the things that the young people felt were wrong with the attitudes of the older generation, she stated that they feel that the older generation doesn't care about other people and what happens to them, that they are more interested in making money and establishing prestige for themselves.

After I went home this accusation stayed with me and I wondered if they were right. Looking at the situation on a local level, I questioned if the people of Circleville were unaware of the needs of those less fortunate than themselves and really didn't care what happened to them. I set out to find an answer to this question. These are some of the things I discovered about Circleville and it's people.

The great majority of people living in Circleville, are fulfilling the primary obligation of their community which is to be responsible for themselves and those legally within their care. This is the initial evidence of caring for other people, that you assume individual responsibility for not being a burden on society if it is within your power to do so.

There are 25 churches located in the city of Circleville which has a population of approximately 12,200 people. This would make available a church for every 400 persons. There are several hundred persons who are active members of these churches and many who live in Circleville who are members of rural churches. To me this church membership is an evidence of caring, for those who attend and give financial support to the churches are making sure that the church program is available to anyone who desires to avail themselves of the privilege of attending. They are, to the best of their individual abilities, following the leadership of One who cared deeply for us all. In addition to the worship program of the churches there are numerous groups and organizations which exist to support the church and to serve others in various ways. Many of those who are members of the city's service organizations derive their inspiration from the church.

Circleville has 200 organizations, most of which are basically service organizations, and others, although existing for another reason have a service aspect through which they fill some of the needs of the community.

The services these organizations give are too many and varied to list here but they are needed services, given freely, along with many man hours of work and effort expended by the members of these organizations. Among other things they give health care and financial assistance to the indigent families of our community, they support the schools and the hospital and they encourage community spirit and cooperation.

Antismoking Law Urged by Mayor

BUTLER, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Clayton D. Brown asked the Borough Council Tuesday to pass a law making it illegal for a resident under 18 to smoke.

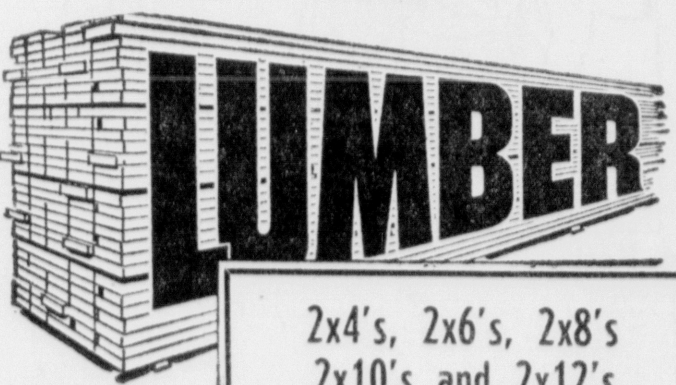

"It is incumbent upon us as parents and adult members of society to protect our youth from developing dangerous health habits as a result of influence or irrational judgment," he said.

The mayor's proposal, which the council will vote on in September, met resistance from Councilman Robert Predmore.
